

Sulfur.

Seven Sisters

Shaker ?

Powers:

---

Constantly produces bright red smoke out of body, is able to harness this smoke in her hands, and launch balls of smoke outwards that explode into clouds of the stuff. The smoke will cause severe coughing and acidic burns on those it is touching. At full charge, the smoke can fly roughly 200 feet, and will spread out around 5 city blocks.

Appearance and Personality:

---

Black, scaled skin. large curled black horns, spikes coming out of back along spine, prehensile tail. Around 5 feet tall, body is covered with red smoke coming out of the spaces between her scales.

Natural born leader. Gets frustrated when others don't see things such as strategy as easy as she does, but she isn't one to start fights for her own benefit. She thinks she would be the best to lead Seven Sisters, but doesn't want to start a conflict in the group. Simply decided to survive, wait it out until it is her turn to lead the sisterhood to glory.

Trigger:

---

Took the "Azazel" vial.

Costume:

---

Wears no costume, has some lightweight kevlar armor. She is covered with her smoke most of the time, so it isn't like most people get a good look at her.