

Before Games

Prehistory

- Light and Dark Gaia, who have been dormant in the Earth since the beginning, begin the cycle where Dark Gaia grows over thousands of years, awakens to break and destroy the world, and Light Gaia awakens to heal the world before both become dormant again, repeating the cycle

- Attracted by the Chaos Energy of the Master Emerald, The Ancients come to Earth after a destroyer of worlds known as the End destroys their original planet, bringing the Chaos Emeralds with them. The Ancients preserve their memories and knowledge in Cyber Space, and rebuild their society on the Starfall Islands and the Mystic Ruins

- The End returns to Earth and devastates the Ancients. Four warriors sacrifice their lives to seal The End in their robotic Titans, trapping it in Cyber Space. The last few remaining members of the Ancients settle in the Mystic Ruins, building the Altar of the Emeralds to hold the Chaos and Master Emeralds and slowly changing over time due to radiation

Tens of thousands of years ago

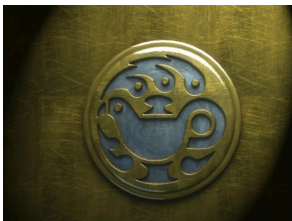

- Oldest record of Dark Gaia's destruction of the Earth. Temples are created by the Gaians to put the world back together in the event it breaks again.

- The Babylon Garden spaceship created by the ancient Babylonians malfunctions due to the inability to control the five Arks of the Cosmos. The Babylonians are forced to disconnect the five artifacts to prevent themselves from being destroyed by a black hole.

- The ancient Babylonians land on the Earth, and earn a reputation of being legendary thieves

Thousands of years ago

- The Ancients who settled in the Mystic Ruins have fully evolved into the Chao, forming a colony in the Altar of the Emeralds and protected by Chaos, a mutated Chao that resembles the Ancients. The Knuckles Clan makes their home in the Mystic Ruins, the chief's daughter, Tikal, befriendng the Chao.

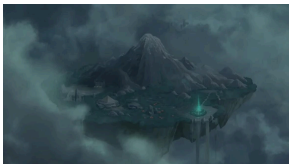

- Pachacamac, leader of the Knuckles Clan and desiring power, attempts to steal the Chaos Emeralds and Master Emerald. Tikal tries to stop her father, but fails, enraging Chaos who transforms into Perfect Chaos with the Chaos Emeralds, devastating the echidna tribes.

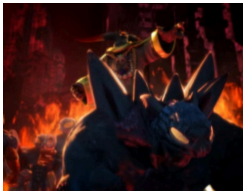

- Tikal uses an ancient prayer and the Master Emerald to seal Chaos within the gem along with herself. The Chaos Emeralds were lost after Chaos's use of them

- The remaining members of the Knuckles Clan use the power of the Master Emerald to suspend the Altar of the Emeralds into the sky, creating Angel Island. The Knuckles Clan would then spent their days guarding the Master Emerald, so the devastation they faced never happens again.

- Black Doom, an alien warlord who travels the universe in the Black Comet, creates the Black Arms and acts as their leader and priest

2000 years ago

- The Black Arms build the Sky Troops on Earth to terrorize the local population, Black Doom desiring to use the organic life on the planet as a food source.

- The Fourth Great Civilization created battle mechs known as Gizoid. End up getting wiped out by their own creation.

The Future

200 years later

- Where Silver the Hedgehog lives. Currently a moment of peace, but Silver still occasionally goes back in time to check up on the past to ensure his future stays peaceful or just to hang out with friends.

Theories

Two Blazes

- Blaze from 06 and Blaze from Rush are two different Blazes. Blaze from 06 is the Blaze that lived in Sonic's timeline, who lived in the future before eventually being erased from existence due to sealing the Flames of Disaster within herself and the timeline reset caused by Elise and Sonic extinguishing Solaris's flame. The Blaze that appears in Rush and future Sonic games is a different dimensional counterpart of Blaze that has always existed in the Sol Dimension.

The Lying Doctor

- Eggman Nega is a future descendant of Eggman from 200 years in the future, with technology and intellect so advanced he has found a way to not only travel through time in Rivals, but also travel to the Sol Dimension without the use of the Emeralds, where he attempts to take over in the Rush series. Despite thinking less of his predecessor, he figured he needed double the evil genius to enact his plans, so by using both the ability to travel through time and his dimension hopping abilities, he poses as a dimensional counterpart to Eggman, lying to get in Eggman's good graces so they could work together, with his mask fully coming off in Rivals where he reveals his true origins and his true thoughts about Dr. Eggman.

Lost Memories of Future Adventures

- In Sonic Generations and Sonic Forces, after Classic Sonic, Classic Tails, and Classic Eggman are all sent back in time once Eggman is defeated and they are able to return to their place in time, due to the powers of the Time Eater and the Phantom Ruby, or a potential side effect of unintentional time anomalies, they all lose their memories of their adventures in the future, continuing to live on as if nothing had happened to them, losing previous skills they learned to do naturally or were in the process of learning during these events, such as the Homing Attack or ability to Boost. Classic Sonic, Classic Eggman, and Classic Tails all eventually grow up into their modern counterparts where they will experience the events of Sonic Generations and Sonic Forces once again, but due to their lost memories, everything is new to them.
