

My Motivations and Programs

I'm happy to say I have many motivations as to why I joined our school's student organisation, mainly section 10, but for now I will just say my only main points. First of all, I personally joined this organisation because in early this year, I have been feeling doubts about my English and I fear of losing this pretty amazing skill, since I haven't really talked to anyone with English in real life. But one of my great friends from elementary, who now also goes to 34 Bandung Public Middle School, informed me that there's an English section in this organisation. I was very thrilled to hear that! Not only can I improve my English skills, I can improve it together with other friends in this section! Moving on, I always loved working with other people. Having the same goals as other people around me is exciting, especially when we complete it together. This feeling is very endearing to me, having everyone team up to do tasks together and having something finish at the same time makes me happy to see. Lastly, I'd say I have been a pretty well creative person since I was young, in the meanwhile, I am always very interested and understanding when it comes to hearing all the critics about my work.

For my programs, I would start off by holding a classic "Poetry Reading" competition in English to train students' public speaking skills, speaking of which, having more public speaking competitions would be great for the students, and I have some in mind. Many of which are

- An English Karaoke Competition
- Story Telling
- Spelling Bee

And etc.

And continuing from our seniors, having an English day would be great for this school. On the contrary, having chosen students to do speeches every once a month about a meaningful book or a song they've consumed, and hopefully would inspire students in 34 Bandung Public Middle School! Lastly, this is really just some thoughts I shared with a friend of mine in this organisation, but we think that it'll be enjoyable and entertaining to have a school podcast, starring talented kids that have recently won a competition outside school and have them be asked questions about their journey. We think the podcast would be more obvious to be played before school starts. Still, it's just a small thought with me and my friend, but I believe it sounds fun!

All the things said, hope would be considered. :) !!
