I'm not here for your nonsense, so stop acting stupid. Whatever someone does is their own business—their future is theirs to decide, not mine. I'm just a developer and an employer. I don't care what you do, and you don't need to get involved with us. We're not interested. We're just working to make a living. So shut up and get out."

The following evidence has been collected and is attached to support this report. All materials are screenshots of conversations and messages involving the reported user.

Evidence Set A – Direct Messages (August 1, 2025):

- The reported user made unsolicited sexual remarks, including references to “doing naughty things.”
- Another user responded with discomfort and explicitly asked for such comments not to be repeated.
- The reported user acknowledged the request but continued similar behavior shortly after.

Evidence Set B – Explicit Content and Messaging (November 1, 2025):

- The reported user shared sexually explicit imagery in chat.
- Messages surrounding the image contain sexual language and reactions indicating confusion and discomfort from others.

Evidence Set C – Harassment and Offensive Communication:

- Conversations include the use of offensive language, harassment, and harmful statements (e.g., telling another user to harm themselves).
- The reported user participated in or contributed to this environment.

Evidence Set D – Additional Sexual Remarks:

- The reported user made further unsolicited sexual comments, including suggestive statements directed at another user.
- Messages show continued escalation despite prior objections.

Evidence Set E – Statements Implying Sexual Intent:

- The reported user made comments such as suggesting another user could “have [their] children.”
- These statements were made without context or consent and contributed to the inappropriate nature of the interaction.

Evidence Set F – Third-Party Testimony (April 11, 2025):

- Another user reported that the subject encouraged them to seek a “sugar daddy” and stated they would do the same.
- This reflects normalization of inappropriate or exploitative relationship dynamics.

AEGIS INTELLIGENCE NETWORK

Evidence Set G – Age-Related Context and Conflicting Statements:

- A user questioned why the reported individual made sexual remarks toward a 16-year-old.
- The reported user responded by claiming it was a joke and that they were unaware of the individual's age.
- Additional messages from other participants contradict this claim, suggesting the reported user may have known the individual was underage (with references to ages 15 or possibly younger).

Evidence Set H – Roleplay / Suggestive Messaging (October 23, 2025):

- The reported user sent a suggestive roleplay-style message describing physical closeness in an intimate manner.
- This message further demonstrates escalation into more explicit and immersive sexual communication.

Evidence Set I – Continued Sexual Questioning (October 30, 2025):

- The reported user revisited prior sexual topics, asking about "size preference," indicating persistence in sexual discussions despite earlier reactions.

CASE NARRATIVE:

Between April 2025 and November 2025, the user identified as "SupermechagodzillaToast" engaged in a consistent pattern of inappropriate, sexually suggestive, and harassing behavior toward other users on the platform. The interactions began with suggestive and unsolicited remarks, including references to sexual activity and inappropriate implications directed at another user. These comments were not invited and were met with visible discomfort and pushback.

Despite being told that such statements were "crazy" and being directly asked not to repeat them, the user continued making similar remarks. This included escalating to more explicit language, suggestive roleplay-style messages, and the sharing of sexually explicit images. The persistence of this behavior after clear objections demonstrates a disregard for personal boundaries and consent within the conversation.

Additional evidence shows the user making comments implying sexual intent, including statements such as suggesting another user could "have [their] children." These remarks were made in contexts that were not appropriate and contributed to an increasingly uncomfortable and hostile environment.

Further messages indicate involvement in conversations where sexually explicit and degrading language was used, as well as instances of general harassment and toxic behavior. The user either directly contributed to or failed to disengage from these interactions, reinforcing a pattern of inappropriate conduct.

Significantly, evidence suggests that at least one of the individuals involved may have been a minor. While the reported user later claimed they were unaware of the individual's age, other messages show conflicting statements and accusations from third parties indicating that the user may have known or had reason to know the individual was underage. The shifting explanations provided by the reported user further raise concerns about credibility and intent.

Overall, the documented behavior demonstrates a pattern of repeated sexual harassment, escalation despite clear objections, and involvement in inappropriate interactions that may include a minor. This pattern contributes to an unsafe and hostile environment and warrants serious review and appropriate disciplinary action.

SECTION TWO: FINDINGS

AEGIS INTELLIGENCE NETWORK
-DEPARTMENT OF INTELLIGENCE OPERATIONS-

SECTION THREE: CONCLUSIONS

CONCLUSION

Based on the collected evidence, the user "SupermechagodzillaToast" + others engaged in a repeated pattern of sexually inappropriate and harassing behavior over an extended period of time. This conduct included unsolicited sexual remarks, sharing explicit content, and continuing such behavior despite clear objections from other users.

The evidence demonstrates not only persistence but escalation, moving from suggestive comments to more explicit messaging and roleplay-style interactions. The reported user showed disregard for boundaries and failed to adjust their behavior even after being directly told to stop.

Additionally, the presence of conflicting statements regarding the age of an involved individual raises serious concerns. While the reported user denied awareness, other messages suggest prior knowledge or at minimum a reckless disregard for the possibility that the individual was underage. This significantly increases the severity of the situation.

Overall, the behavior outlined in this report reflects a consistent pattern of harassment, inappropriate sexual conduct, and participation in a toxic communication environment. The nature, frequency, and escalation of these actions indicate that this is not an isolated incident but an ongoing issue that poses a risk to the safety and well-being of others on the platform.

Given the totality of the evidence, this matter warrants serious review and appropriate disciplinary action in accordance with platform policies.

RECOMMENDATION

Based on the severity, frequency, and escalation of the behavior documented in this report, the following actions are recommended:

- Immediate review by moderation staff of all provided evidence and associated message history
- Temporary suspension or permanent removal of the reported user, depending on platform policy and prior history
- Restriction of communication privileges to prevent further direct messaging or interaction with other users during the review process
- Formal warning and documentation of the incident on the user's record if a full ban is not immediately applied
- Protection measures for affected users, including blocking, reporting assistance, and moderation follow-up
