

Nancy Giurato has a background in healthcare and research, focused on the early detection of congenital diseases and hearing impairments in newborns and infants. She, herself, is a medical mama to a 5-year-old daughter with intensive medical complexities and Deafblindness, and an 8-year-old son with autism and central auditory processing disorder. In addition to her role on the NC DeafBlind Project, Nancy also serves as a Bilingual Parent Educator with ECAC, providing individualized assistance to families with special healthcare and educational needs. Recognizing the importance of self-care, Nancy enjoys trips to the beach and walking the family dog whenever possible.
