

2016 Nebbiolo

Lost Coast's Dragon Vineyard

Delicate aromatics including hints of rose and pineapple round out the supple tannin structure of this wine. The light red color from the pale grape skin provides an ethereal backdrop to the balanced acidity of this unique noble grape transplanted from Italy to a remote region of California. Crafted from grapes that ripened late in the coastal-influenced continental climate of the valley, this wine beautifully expresses the uniqueness of Humboldt County climate and soil.

About the Vineyard

Lost Coast Vineyard Wines actually owns more than one vineyard in Humboldt County, but our Nebbiolo grapes were sourced from their lovely vineyard in Hoopa, California. Family owned and cared for, this vineyard is in an ideal location for the “continental” climate that Nebbiolo grapes prefer.

About the Winery

We believe in the collective wisdom of winemakers, scientists, and creatives who hold that exceptional wine is born from both curiosity and tradition. Guided by a passion for exploration, we push the boundaries of what wine can be, merging art and science in every bottle. We are committed to crafting wine that tastes extraordinary and honors the land and people behind it. We embrace experimentation, allowing our curiosity to fuel our growth in every stage of winemaking. Through every bottle, we hope to inspire a journey of discovery, shared moments, and meaningful connection.
