April 24, 2021

An Open Letter to Prime Minister Justin Trudeau,

We are writing to you as medical students and health care advocates across the country who are deeply concerned by the ongoing global inequities in access to COVID-19 medicines and vaccines. As health care advocates, we recognize that the health of those living in Canada is interlinked to the health of the global community. It has been over one year since COVID-19 was declared a pandemic, yet on April 22, 2021, India recorded the world's highest one-day surge in cases. Hospitals in India have been forced to turn away patients with “oxygen out of stock” signs. This is a moral catastrophe.

The global inequities are clear. Despite high income countries accounting for only 13% of the world's population, 82% of doses have gone into the arms of those in high and upper middle income countries, compared to only 0.3% to those in low income countries. Clearly, the unprecedented rapid and global scientific progress has been made at the expense of low- and middle-income countries (LMICs). Throughout this pandemic, countries across the globe, including Canada, have relied on the Serum Institute of India to produce COVID-19 vaccines. India has currently provided vaccines to 82 countries, many of which are LMICs through the COVAX program. Canada is the only G7 country to draw vaccines from COVAX, which is a fund intended to provide access to LMICs.

We are ready to stand in solidarity with low- and middle-income countries who recognized early on the need to remove any and all barriers to saving the lives of people across the globe. Since October 2020, India and South Africa have been advocating to the WTO for an intellectual property (IP) waiver to enable patent free, widespread manufacturing of COVID-19 medicines and vaccines. With partnerships and shared technology, any facility in the world with the capacity will be able to produce medicines and vaccines, such as those in Latin America, Africa, and Asia. This innovation should be a public good considering over $100 billion in taxpayers' money has funded these vaccines globally. It is unjust that a corporate monopoly is expected to profit over $30 billion in revenue from these vaccines and is still not reaching the people that need it most. Intellectual property laws were not designed for a global pandemic. Despite Canada's reliance on India's production capacity to vaccinate its own population, Canada has joined some high-income countries and has not supported the IP waiver.

We request the following:

1. Sign on to India and South Africa's proposal to waive obligations under the WTO Agreement on Trade-Related Aspects of Intellectual Property Rights (TRIPS)
2. Endorse the COVID-19 technology access pool \(CTAP\), which aims to accelerate scale-up of manufacturing and removing global barriers to access.
3. Leverage our diplomatic relations to lead global partnerships in supporting the TRIPS waiver and lifting any bans globally on the export of materials necessary to vaccine production

For many of us, the statistics on the news media represent the lost lives of family members and friends across the globe. As we battle this devastating pandemic, we must recognize that the health and wellbeing of those in Canada is inextricably linked to those within the greater global community. The longer the current global crisis persists, the greater the socio-economic fallout, making it imperative and urgent to collaborate internationally to rapidly contain the outbreak. Combating the pandemic is not about how a single country responds, but about global shared accountability to preserve the dignity and value of each and every human life as equal and indispensable. It is about rejecting the prioritization of profits over people. It is about moving towards a global concerted effort with a mindset of compassion, empathy, and solidarity. The only way to move forward is together.
