- Healthcare, something everybody needs, often leads to crippling debt.
- We have obvious, existential collective problems (like climate change), yet we are completely devoid of solutions, or even looking for them.
- A large and growing percentage of the population doesn't get shelter, despite an abundance of shelter.
- A billionaire who sells surveillance software to the CIA starts a bank run
- Endless war and militarism are assumed to be natural or inevitable
- Public trust in its leadership has eroded, but the public has no mechanism to do anything about it.
- The internet - the most liberating technology in human history - is flooded with spam, ads, surveillance, partisan discord, and a steady monopolization of content designed to sell, addict, and make people feel insecure.
- Despite the internet's existence, we've seen no transformation of our rules or culture for the public benefit.

Do you know why it needs to be secret? Because otherwise the public wouldn't stand for it. Can you imagine if the public knew this wild stuff?

- They gave us COVID so they could disguise the crypto super-Ponzi through the market. This will imminently collapse the economy.
- Bill Clinton blackmailed Governor Mike Dukakis and Rob Lowe in 1988 because he was on Bush's team.
- Epstein's office at Harvard was for Ponzi schemes, as all fantastic billionaire science is (unless the investors are in on it like Theranos and Clinkle, which means it's for money laundering).
- UNC student body president Eve Carson was assassinated by UNC president Erskine Bowles. He did this because she thought she could make a difference and wanted to help the student body.
- NYU has a blackmail ring. That's why Jeffrey Epstein went there.

Oh wait a minute, this must mean the secret's out, right?

That means this is a revolution.

What Kind of Government is This?

(An Analysis)

Here are some common responses:

- Representative Democracy
- Democratic Republic
- Oligarchy
- Plutocracy
- Fascist State

One of these is close, but none are correct.

Let's review some facts.

- The government sells lottery tickets. In some states, lottery programs are used to fund education (and justify slashed education budgets).

- The costs of higher education have skyrocketed

- Culture is drenched in irony and earnest virtue has been excised from government

- Though it's the richest country in world history, life expectancy decreased (pre-COVID)

- The last Secretary of Education was a pyramid scheme heiress.

- Hillary Clinton and Donald Trump were positioned as diametric opposites: One is our savior and the other is Hitler. But Clinton and Trump are friends, she promoted him for president, and they both hang out with the same billionaire blackmail artist.

- Because they were diametrically opposed and divisive, these two friends tore millions of families apart.

- A billionaire blackmail artist exists.

There are more, but we would need another pamphlet. I'm sure you've got a few in mind.

Do you know what type of government this is, friend? This is a:

Secret Kleptocracy

Our government masks itself as a representative democracy, but they engage in systemic extraction of wealth from the public. They are conning us.

How did this happen? Easy. We have a simple formula:

The CIA is a secret criminal organization: They don't tell us anything they do, but whenever we find out, it's Watergate, Iran-Contra, coups, kidnappings, behavioral modification, etc.

George H.W. Bush was CIA Director, which means he is a secret criminal. In 1989, he became President.

Secret criminal + White House = Secret Kleptocracy

Flip me over to see what we do about it.

- When children use the internet, they are shuttled toward predatory apps and games carefully designed to extract their money; loot-box gambling addictions; content creators that pitch bogus products, prey on insecurities, or steer toward Neo-Nazi ideology; and an endless sea of pornography built on more exploitation, trafficking and sex slavery than most care to admit.

- People build these tools of exploitation because it has become their own best chance at food and shelter (in the wealthiest nation in world history).

- Wages stagnated, everything has gotten more expensive, and CEO pay has gone into the stratosphere.

- A presidential candidate who once called black people "super-predators" weaponized her gender and took the moral high ground.

- The most important dogma is that our purpose is to compete with others so we can take as much as we can for ourselves.

- A regular and growing part of life is that sometimes children bring guns to school and murder people. There are no solutions.
