

Hi Mike,

I played in a (3) day invitational at Atlas Valley Country Club in Atlas, MI. There were 56 two man teams. First day we played better ball of one converted to stableford points. Second day we played a two man scramble.

My partner who is a 19 and I were probably close to the bottom of our flight after two days however the last day its total stableford points of both players and there is usually a big swing if one guy was riding on his partner the first two days. The last day we had rain come in and out most of the round. By 15 we had had it and decided to call it quits. We had a total at that point of 27 points of which I contributed 24. Needless to say we did not do too well.

At the awards dinner that night a case of hot dogs is awarded to the team with the lowest total after 3 rounds of the entire tournament. We were 1 point better than the last place team however the committee made a special decision to award the hot dogs to the team that struggled the most hence we were the winners.

Needless to say my partner is quitting the club and golf and next years' trip we are going to Mackinaw Island with the girls.
