Night City elites fight like rabid dogs - daughter of Medivance CEO bites security guard

- Article written by anonymous media

North Oak wedding comes to a halt as one of the guests goes on a violent rampage, and bites one of the security guards who intervenes.

According to anonymous witnesses, Lue Even, the 17 year old daughter of Colt Even, the Medivance CEO, needed to be escorted out for a major disturbance. It is alleged that she bit the hand of one of the security men trying to get a hold of her. The bite was allegedly severe enough to draw blood, and needed sutures. Despite this, the man seems currently set on not pressing charges.

Witnesses describe the event with great shock. It is claimed that the girl started throwing champagne glasses at her parents due to an argument, which got security called. “At first, when I heard the commotion, I thought some gonk crashed the wedding,” they declare. “She kept yelling and thrashing and swearing, and then we heard one of the guards growl in pain. We only realized later that she had bit him. I would’ve never expected this sort of behaviour from someone of her status.”

Both involved parties refused to comment on the event. A Medivance spokesperson declared that he can neither confirm nor deny the events took place, and that they are not in any way connected to the company.

Y'all know that one chick they wrote about last week? The one who bit some cylon gonk's hand? I fucking lost it when I saw the article cuz I got a choom who goes to NCU Medicine and apparently has some labs with her. The bitch is crazy and he always tells me about whatever bullshit she pulls, so actually seeing her in an article was hilarious

>Missio starts subthread

Lue Even is indeed infamous at NCU

Missio (OP)

Okay so, as promised, here are the deets.

Lue is a first year in med school, which is wild in general cuz she's 17. And yeah sure, scratch and connections goes a long way, but my choomita says that the girl's pretty stellar academically. Or well, has the potential to be.

She's super party crazy. My friend doesn't even get involved in drama but it's hard not to hear about it. There's so many stories of her just high as hell on stims or drunk out of her mind doing random bullshit. We were talking about it and we wouldn't be surprised if she was on synthcoke or something when the whole ordeal in the news article went down. Anyways me and my friend Maieras are here to answer any questions we can

What kind of stories did you hear about her? Can you give some examples, I'm invested as shit

A couple months back she was at a party and made out with the boyfriend of a colleague of mine. They fought a bunch, like physically, she punched one of Lue's molars out (deserved imo lol). Shit really escalated tho and they had to call the cops so they wouldn't deadass kill each other. My colleague started it, sure, (well technically Lue deserved it but yknow), but that other bitch was like a rabid animal from what I heard, it was like she was locked in to flatline the poor girl. Apparently the boyfriend had sold her synthcoke and they were both high as shit. He got in trouble for it, (and my classmate dumped his ass, for the record), but Lue got off pretty much scott free. Corpsos do as corpos do, what can i say

Damn yeah I wouldn't be shocked if she was high at that wedding too.

Doubt it, shit went down in Oak Hill, the cyons there would've seen it. Sure they might not care if it only affect us proles but they would care when their rich asses are at stake.

Damn thanks for telling, that is wild

How's she like? Other than like, a stim addict and insane. And is she looking for an output? Just saying, the pics of her from the Medivance website and NCU look kinda fineeee... Asking for a friend ofc...

First of all, ew dude. Just cuz we're gossiping here it doesn't mean you gotta be a creep and a stalker. Sides, don't think you'd stand much of a chance, for a girl she's certainly an infamous and impressive womanizer, ironically. Anyways she's pretty mean and has a crazy superiority complex. I tried to talk with her once since this whole thing started cuz I got curious and she did not leave a great impression. Won't give many deets, don't wanna get zeroed by some corpo ninja for posting about her online lol

And to think this is the scum we're supposed to trust our lives with. Bet she could fail all her exams and they wouldn't kick her out. Fucking nepos, NCU is full of them fuckers

Maieras (co-OP)

Hey listen, most of us worked our asses off to get here and are still working our asses off to be fantastic medics one day. Criticize Lue all you want but leave the rest of NCU especially NCU medicine out of it.

OMFG did yall see this??? God damn I wonder if the thread had anything to do with it?? Shit I don't think so but I can't help but be paranoid

Maieras (co-OP)

Nobody at uni knows what to make of it?? We all knew she was a bit messed up in the head but wow shit just got real huh. As much of a bitch as she was, I hope she'll be okay

Poor girl, who knows what she's been dealing with behind closed doors. People are making this whole thing into such a spectacle rn, like some of the other threads popping up here and even the news reports are vile

Medivance CEO's daughter forcefully admitted to psych ward

- Article written by Fusion

Lue Even, the daughter of the CEO of Medivance, was forcefully admitted to a mental institution after a suicide attempt.

Lue Even became somewhat famous among niche communities after a controversial incident where she assaulted a security guard. However, it seems like there's far more going on behind the scenes, as is often the case with the North Oak sorts of people.

Lue is a first year medicine student at Night City University, and her peers' statements tell the story of a very disturbed individual hidden behind the pristine public image built by her family. Lue is known to be an erratic and violent person, with a tendency for substance abuse. Most of her university colleagues describe her as "a huge fan of stims" almost immediately upon starting to talk about her, and she has quite a negative reputation of being a "party animal", as well as physically attacking her peers. Despite this, she seems to have decent grades, which does not exactly line up with her reputation.

It seems to be clear that Lue is a troubled person, which really does lead you to ask: why did nobody do anything about it before she slit her own wrist? The passivity of the NCU faculty as well as her peers seems to be a symptom of the way that the richest ones of us hide their true faces in order to appear perfect. It is no surprise that something like this happened, though I do expect it to be covered up.
