Illegal Immigrant In Utah Arrested For Alleged Rape Of 11-Year-Old

May 31, 2023

MEMORANDUM FOR: Francisco Madrigal
Assistant Director
Enforcement

FROM: Michael Bernacke
Field Office Director
Salt Lake City Field Office

SUBJECT: Sanctuary State Designation for the State of Utah

Discussion:

The Salt Lake City Field Office has encountered limitations and restrictions related to its ability to enforce the Immigration and Nationality Act and Chapter Eight of the Federal Code of Regulations due to terminations of intergovernmental service agreements with ICE by the Utah County Sheriff's Office in August 2016, Cache County Sheriff's Office in November 2022, and the Washington County Sheriff's Office on May 31, 2023.

These terminations have ended ICE's ability to detain foreign nationals on a long-term basis (over 72 hours).

In fiscal year 2023 (October 1, 2022 – April 30, 2023), the Salt Lake City Field Office arrested 4,216 foreign nationals of which only 33%, or 1,396, were detained by ICE, the other 67% were released from ICE custody. Non-detention policies stemming from local sheriffs' offices directly resulted in the exceptional number of foreign nationals released back into the community to reside alongside Utah residents.

These non-detention policies have compromised the Salt Lake City Field Office's ability to support the U.S. Border Patrol and their efforts to stem the current border surge by providing the Department of Homeland Security additional bed capacity to detain and remove inadmissible foreign nationals. It is also providing a pull-factor from the border to the region as foreign nationals have provided intelligence to staff advising that word of mouth amongst migrants is that Utah is a location where they will likely not be deported. The field office is also observing migrants who recently crossed the border are relocating from sanctuary states like New York and Illinois to Utah due to the lessened risk for deportation.

Sanctuary State Designation for the State of Utah

Additionally, the bed terminations have also directly de-stabilized ICE's law enforcement capability in the States of Idaho and Montana as Utah-based bed space provided a central location for detainee transfers for those arrested by ICE and the Border Patrol on the northern border. Additionally, due process for foreign nationals has been degraded as those in immigration proceedings no longer direct access to Immigration Judges based in Utah who are responsible for hearings in Idaho, Montana, and Utah in an expedited detained setting. All hearings are now conducted in a non-detained setting, increasing hearing wait times from one to three months, in a detained setting, to two to five years due to lack of bed space for detained hearings.

Designation:

Accordingly, due to the de-stabilization of ICE's law enforcement mission in Idaho, Montana, and Utah, its negative downstream impact to the Border Patrol and border security, along with compromised due process and restriction of speedy immigration hearings, and the fact that other sanctuary states such as Colorado Illinois, Maryland, Washington, etc., have enacted similar non-detention policies, I am designating the State of Utah as a sanctuary state.

FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY SANCTUARY POLICIES IN THE STATE OF UTAH October 6th, 2023

Overview:

- Major local sheriffs have enacted soft-bans/sanctuary policies on immigration detention, terminating all long-term detention contracts with ICE Enforcement and Removal Operations (ERO) Salt Lake City.
- This has resulted in approximately 70% of the field office's arrests being released from custody.
- It has also destabilized ERO Salt Lake City's capability to support the Border Patrol's Havre Sector in Montana along with CBP's international screening activities at airports.
- ERO Salt Lake City and ICE Headquarters' officials have met with various Utah elected leaders since 2016 regarding lack of detention space in the region with no advancement on this issue.

ERO Salt Lake City Logistical Background:

- ERO Salt Lake City is responsible for ICE law enforcement activity in the States of Idaho, Montana, Nevada, and Utah.
- ERO Salt Lake City has 11 offices throughout the four-state region with 160 officers and professional staff.
- The office has immigration court support in Salt Lake City, UT and Las Vegas, NV.
 - The immigration court in Salt Lake City is responsible for cases in Idaho, Montana and Utah.
- Prior to detention contract terminations in Utah, detainees

MEMORANDUM FOR: Francisco Madrigal
Assistant Director
Enforcement Division

THROUGH: Juan Acosta
Assistant Director
Field Operations

FROM: Michael Bernacke
Field Office Director
Salt Lake City Field Office

SUBJECT: Recission of memorandum dated May 31, 2023, "Sanctuary State Designation for the State of Utah"

Discussion:

On May 31, 2023, I submitted the memorandum, "Sanctuary State Designation for the State of Utah". This outlined detention capacity difficulties with the State of Utah, the Cache, Utah, and Washington County Sheriff's Offices.

This memorandum is outdated. Since that time, the Salt Lake City Field Office has been working with state officials and sheriffs to address the capacity issues in Utah to further enhance public safety and border security.

The State of Utah and associated counties work collaboratively with the Salt Lake City Field Office and is not sanctuary state. Additionally, the memorandum was notional in nature and designation should not have been in place. The Salt Lake City Field Office has an established history of working collaboratively with local agencies appreciates its ongoing relationships with the State, Counties and associated agencies.

It all has to do with the large influx of refugees the school has seen in the last five years. According to administrators, refugee students have gone from 4% of the population to more than 30% of the population. Jordan School District told KSL-TV that on the district level, it has gone from 68 refugee students in the 2017-2018 year to more than 750.

Info on David E Cumming Foundation

<https://www.instrumentl.com/990-report/cumming-foundation>

The foundation's executive director/VP is the past President of Utah Planned Parenthood, Annette P. Cumming

<https://www.deseret.com/1993/4/20/19043015/ex-president-of-utah-planned-parenthood-board-is-appointed-to-group-s-national-board-of-trustees/>

It lists David Cumming as the foundation's president and trustee and John D. Cumming as the foundation's trustee., one of the largest abortion activists and donors. Annette was also promoted to the national board of trustees for Planned Parenthood. Annette is honored here for her pro abortion activism

<https://nursing.utah.edu/giving/endowed-chairs/cumming-presidential-womens-reproductive-health>

The vast majority of David Cummings donations are inside of Utah, and the donations are exclusively to left-wing and pro abortion causes, such as: Center For Reproductive Rights, Chelsea's Fund For Feminists, Friends Of Unfpa Guttmacher Institute, Planned Parenthood Association Of Utah, (Annette is their largest single contributor) Planned Parenthood Hudson Peconic, Planned Parenthood Of The Rocky Mountains, The Brigid Alliance, and Ywca Utah.

Here is another look at Annette's political donation history

<https://www.monecracy.com/contributor/wyoming/83001/cumming-annette-p>

You will see that she gave exclusively to the Democrat party for decades.....except for when she gave to Spencer Cox. When your Governor is funded by the biggest left wingers Utah has ever seen (they moved to Jackson Hole from Utah in 1998), it should be concerning.

This video exposes a lot of the corruption in our state and the people involved, around min 36 it talks about Cox and some of the other politicians involved. Listen to this video, you will notice MANY of the individuals and companies who donated to him are mentioned in this video o "Spanking the Monkey" (1994) – "With a euphemistic title referring to masturbation and an incestuous plot development"

o "Secretary" (2002)- "Plenty of Sundance movies have featured graphic sex over the years, but none have delved into the world of BDSM quite like Steven Shainberg's cult classic." BDSM = Bondage and Discipline, Dominance and Submission, Sadochism, and Masochism.

Sundance Is All About Porn Nowadays

A list of the movies that make us wonder what all the hype is about.

By ABC News

Jan. 24, 2013 -- intro:

quicklist: 1title: 8 Movies That Make Us Wonder What all the Sundance Hype Is Abouttext: Unfortunately, we can't be at Sundance this year. Boo-hoo. Looking through the list of films, I came across some movies that made me really happy we didn't travel across the country to 25-degree weather to see Naomi Watts make out with her friend's son (see slide 8: Two Mothers). But then there were some movies that gave me real FOMO (fear of missing out). I also noticed a big trend at this year's fest: porn. Here's the list of the 4 movies we're sad we missed, and the 4 we wouldn't have any other way. Most of these criticisms are based on the titles alone, so forgive me for being quick to judge. Sorry I'm not sorry.

Why is Cox not protecting our Children?

Governor Cox assigned the prosecutor in Juab County, who was prosecuting cases of children involved in sexual and satanic abuse, to a Judgeship, conveniently leaving the case without a prosecutor, virtually shutting the case down. This was extremely disheartening and costly to the victims involved, these victims have been trying to get help, and get perpetrators off the streets, for many years, now they basically must start over.

<https://utahpolicy.com/news-release/68812-gov-cox-appoints-ryan-peters-to-fourth-district-juvenile-court>

https://1830goel.substack.com/p/hamblin-case-updates?utm_source=profile&utm_medium=reader2

❖ Additionally, by nominating Ryan Peters to Juvenile Court judgeship, Governor Cox managed to indefinitely delay the proceedings in the Hamblin and Stevenson cases. Out of all of the qualified candidates for judgeships in Utah, Cox chose a man who was the sole authorized special prosecutor in both cases. This is likely not accidental.

After reading the above info you may ask yourself WHY WAS COX THE PERSON OF THE YEAR for the SLC Queer magazine??? Also, notice the magazine features a “queer guide to the Sundance Film Festival” after reading the above info and realizing the absolutely horrific films produced by the Sundance institute, involving child porn, we must ask ourselves why Cox is involved.

Cox promotes and encourages racism and division

The DEI problem was created by Spencer Cox. It is right in his Roadmap for the first 500 days of the Cox administration Cox released the Utah Equity, Diversity and Inclusion Compact, which says "We view racism as more than just an individual character flaw. It is a system of ideas, beliefs, practices, structures, and policies that give some people greater opportunity to be fully human and live a happier and healthier life than others. Unraveling centuries of internalized and systemic racism requires bold anti-racist actions and policies right now." The compact concludes by stating "We affirm our commitment will not just be a passing moment, but a legacy movement of social, racial and economic justice" For those that do not speak woke, an adjective followed by the word "justice" means "socialism, enacted by force if necessary" Cox clearly states that he appointed people to boards and commissions based on how "diverse" they are. He divides Utahns based on immutable characteristics like sex, race and sexuality in the interest of acknowledging intersectional identities. He clearly says that he will amplify the work of the "Division of Multicultural Affairs", His chief of staff said that the administrators would be held accountable. <https://kutv.com/.../gender-identity-video-fallout-state...> Cox also spreads the falsehood of the "gender pay gap" and says he wants to spur change in the private sector. Cox is far different in an election year than he is at the beginning of a term. Get ready for a return to woke in 2025.

There is ZERO transparency in Utah's elections

It's not just LGBT issues. The first thing that Cox signed as governor was the Utah Compact on Racial Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion, which argued: "Unraveling centuries of internalized and systemic racism requires bold anti-racist...policies right now."

Cox called a BYU student who used “racial slurs” an Ahole

In 2022 a BYU student apparently called out a racial slur at a BYU volleyball game, which made national news. On social media Cox called the boy who made the slur an Ahole. After reviewing the video, they found out it was an autistic BYU student who never called out a racial slur. Cox took down the post but never apologized.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Grassroots Utah State Flag Initiative Challenges Cease-and-Desist from Lieutenant Governor, Alleges Constitutional Freedom of Speech Violation

Utah, Nov. 13, 2023 – Tracie Halvorsen, a sponsor of the Restoring the Utah State Flag Initiative, a grassroots movement dedicated to giving a voice in the decision to change the Utah State Flag, has issued a response to a cease-and-desist letter received from Lieutenant Governor Henderson's office. The cease-and-desist letter was issued following a reaction to the grassroots public statement on the platform referred to as "X" (formerly known as Twitter), which included the use of the Initiative's State Flag Initiative logo.

On October 25, 2023, Lieutenant Governor Henderson made a public statement on the "X" platform, expressing gratitude to SaveUtahsFlag, an account in opposition of the grassroots movement. This statement was in response to their report of an alleged "unauthorized Great Seal usage", indicating Lieutenant Governor Henderson's intent to issue a cease-and-desist letter.

Halvorsen's response raises concerns over Lieutenant Governor Henderson's interpretation of Utah Code 67-1a-7. Halvorsen contends that this interpretation grants unchecked authority to Lieutenant Governor Henderson, providing broad authority to determine what constitutes the "Great Seal of this state" and the essential elements of the Utah state flag. Halvorsen believes this interpretation provides for an abuse of power allowing Lieutenant Governor Henderson discretion, which results in a potential infringement on the constitutionally protected freedom of speech.

Halvorsen contends that this rule is specifically designed to govern the usage of the Great Seal by government officials and government employees in their official communications and activities. It does not extend its scope to regulate the general public's use of the Great Seal or use of any variation of symbols. Instead, it emphasizes the importance of ensuring the proper and authorized use of the Great Seal by government entities for official state purposes. The reason behind this limitation is to prevent any potential misuse or abuse of the authority granted to those individuals in their official capacity.

Halvorsen indicates that this interpretation finds further support in the historical context of its application and its placement within the Utah Code, which is titled "State Officers and Employees." This placement reinforces the notion that the rule primarily pertains to governing the conduct of state officers and employees when dealing with the Great Seal in their official Halvorsen asserts the adoption of the grassroots State Flag Initiative logo represents collective frustration with Lieutenant Governor Henderson's handling of the grassroots state initiative and the growing sentiment that representatives are not listening to the voices of "We the People." Halvorsen contends the demand to discontinue the use of the Initiative's logo is an infringement upon their constitutionally protected freedom of speech.

Halvorsen goes on to reference legal precedent, including the case of Rothamel v. Fluvanna Cty., to highlight concerns about content and viewpoint censorship and the potential abuse of power when discretion of a government official influences who can speak. Halvorsen firmly maintains that this concern gains further credibility through Lieutenant Governor Henderson's public statements on the X platform, which seem to exhibit a noticeable bias. This bias appears to unfairly target the Utah Flag Initiative logo, while overlooking other groups utilizing the same symbols. Halvorsen argues the symbols integrated in the State Flag Initiative logo are clearly integral components of the Utah flag, which the Lieutenant Governor clearly states "There is no problem using all or part of the state flag." However, Lieutenant Governor Henderson is demanding the logo's discontinuation and threatening potential felony charges to be pursued against innocent citizens.

Halvorsen further highlights an observation of Mallory Underwood, the author of the cease-and-desist letter, who appears to utilize a "seal" in her email signature block that does not align with the parameters prescribed by the legislative code UCA 67-1a-8. Halvorsen maintains that the legislature has not granted the Lieutenant Governor the authority to craft personal seals for official use and communication, "evoking a sense of 'rules for thee, not for me' sentiment."

Amid challenges posed by opposition and roadblocks imposed by the Lieutenant Governor, the Restoring the Utah State Flag Initiative remains unwavering in its commitment to empowering the people in deciding the fate of the state flag. The organization invites fellow citizens to join the grassroots movement to put the Utah state flag on the ballot, enabling individuals to choose the flag that truly represents the people of the great state of Utah. OUT OF CONTROL SPENDING IN UTAH

Below you will find 2 charts. The first one on the lower left shows in 2016, the Utah budget was $13.7 Billion dollars for that year. The chart on the lower right is the current budget of $29.4 Billion dollars. In 8 short years, the budget of the state has more than doubled.

There are current lawmakers and those seeking office who will try and suggest there was a tax cut and while that is partially true, those cuts don't come anywhere close to where the budget was just a few short years ago.

Budget Summary

2023 General Session

The Utah Legislature concluded its 2023 General Session with a budget of $29.4 billion for fiscal year 2024. The budget includes $14.6 billion from state funds (General Fund, Income Tax Fund, Uniform School Fund) and $170 million from the federal American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA).

As Republicans we need to hold those elected officials accountable for the reckless spending that is going on. There's a significant difference between wants and needs. The Republican Platform is that of LIMITED GOVERNMENT AND LIMITED SPENDING and honestly looking at these charts, how can any honest person think that current Republicans who control both the House, Senate and Governorship are adhering to those principles? This should be on the forefront as you go and determine which candidates to support, especially those who want to go to Washington with that same mind set of spend, spend, spend.

A politician's past record of leadership is a stronger indicator of what type of leader they will be in the future than the aboutface they make in the weeks leading up to the election.

“You knew who I was when you picked me up.”

Cox is now desperately trying to rebrand himself with billboards and sound bites that don't match his past 4 years of governance.

His record of mean tweets, support of DEI from day one, vetoing the bill protecting girls sports, sweet heart deals to his friends and family, creating an elite economy to benefit the top, push for mail-in voting, denying transparency in elections as LG, taking federal money in exchange for masking our children after all other mandates were lifted, government interference in the housing market, not standing up for public lands, adding to gender confusion by using pronouns with school children, and vindictive behavior against his opponents, etc will not go away with an impending election.

Choose carefully. Cox has had 12 years in executive leadership in Utah. We know exactly who he is.

COX WAS REBUKED BY HIS OWN PARTY

Governor Cox's recent address at the convention sharply diverged from the expected vision-sharing for Utah's future and Republican values. Instead, he characterized delegates—duly elected representatives of Utah's communities—as extreme and inconsequential, an insinuation we firmly reject. These unpaid volunteers are integral to Utah's fabric, embodying the very essence of local governance and civic duty as established in our nation's founding.

The Utah County Republican Party champions the principles of republican government, political freedom, and self-governance, rooted in both the U.S. and Utah Constitutions. We adhere to a meaningful political process that respects individual and community engagement. This system operates under the neighborhood caucus system, which allows ballot access for all, regardless of money and lobbyist access.

Governor Cox's remarks represent a stark dismissal of the people's representative system and the Utahns dedicated to this important democratic principle. Representation becomes questionable when views align more closely with another party's ideologies—particularly concerning health autonomy, 15-Minute SMART surveillance cities, and the protection of girls' sports.

The Utah County Republican Party proudly supports our nominees; including Phil Lyman, chosen by delegates with a 67% majority, for Governor. Join us in backing our nominees to lead Utah with integrity and respect for our cherished Republican values.

STATEMENT IN RESPONSE TO GOV SPENCER COX ATTACKS ON FELLOW REPUBLICANS

Governor Cox's recent comments directed at his Republican colleagues were disheartening. His convention speech, which included a characterization of delegates as "irrelevant" and "full of hate" despite their honest efforts over the past two months, naturally added to a predictable reaction during the voting process. It appears that the current governor anticipated the unfavorable outcome, as he promptly utilized the situation to enhance his fundraising campaigns. This strategy marks a significant departure from the approach that previously earned him the delegates' approval in 2020. Phil Lyman has secured the Republican Party nomination with 67.5% of the vote. Congratulations to Phil Lyman, we look forward to supporting his campaign.

Iron County Republican Party calls on Governor Cox to Rescind Divisive, False, & Inflammatory Statements 3 min read

📅 May 2, 2024

At the 2024 Republican State Convention, Governor Spencer Cox insinuated that Delegates who don't vote for him "hate too much," and stated that those Republicans are "radical extremists." He threatened that if we didn't vote for him the Republican Party would lose the Neighborhood Caucus-Convention System, which allows everyone an equal chance to participate in our elections regardless of their financial situation. In a follow up fundraising email, he doubled down on this divisive and contentious rhetoric.

We are concerned that this negative approach will only increase when the campaign shifts from talking to delegates in person to third party paid advertising, and that the countless time and resources that volunteer delegates spend taking their roles seriously will continue to be disrespected.

Governor Cox took these actions in response to a portion of the State Delegates expressing their dissatisfaction with his actions in office by booing him at the beginning of his speech. While we do not approve of booing as an effective form of communication with our representatives, Spencer Cox's response was no better, and as the governor, and as a Republican leader, Republican voters expect better leadership.

We are confident that if Governor Cox had given a more positive and unifying speech, explained some of the disagreements better, did not collect signatures, and spent more time visiting places like Iron County in person that he would have received a significantly higher vote than the 29% he received. These common-sense approaches to campaigning were done by most of the other candidates who received better results. Senator Orrin Hatch in the 2012 election, whom Governor Cox referenced in his speech, campaigned well and received nearly 60% of the vote despite controversial votes taken. Representatives Moore and Maloy both easily qualified for the primary ballot without the need for collecting signatures.

Delegates are elected by their neighbors. Most delegates are respected by their neighbors through their community service, employment, positions on issues, or ecclesiastical positions. If they weren't respected and representative of their neighborhoods, then they would not be elected.

If non-delegate voters were given the same amount of time and availability to candidates as delegates receive, we are certain that the broader primary electorate would make essentially the same decisions in Party Primary Elections as the Delegates do in Party Conventions.

Unfortunately, with the broad disparities in access to money that various candidates have, equal access to voters is not possible for all candidates. This is the most likely cause of any significant disparity in results between convention and primary, and until scientifically replicable research is completed, it is not philosophically cogent to simply label the difference in outcomes to what Governor Cox prescribed – delegates "hate people" and are "extreme and radical".

In 2020, during the Republican primary with three other candidates, Governor Cox received 36% of the vote, only 2% higher than the next highest candidate. This 36% primary result is not significantly different from the 29% of State Delegates that voted for him at the Convention.

It is critical that Governor Cox work to positively reach out to the 64% of Republicans who voted for another candidate and work to unify our party in order to establish and promote Republican values.

We call upon Governor Cox to disagree better, to rescind his divisive, false, and inflammatory remarks, and to apologize to the Utah Republican Party organization, the Republican voters of Utah, and the duly elected volunteer State Delegates who represent them on the local level.

Signed state of emergency order with gov Herbert in 2020.

The orders are effective Monday, Nov. 9 and will remain in effect until Nov. 23, 2020

1. The entire state is now under a mask mandate.

- You must wear a face mask indoors and outdoors anytime you are within 6 feet of anyone from another household. This means you must wear a face mask anytime you are around people you don't live with.
- Customers, patrons and employees of businesses must wear a face mask.

Even after the orders issued today expire, the mask mandate will be extended for the foreseeable future.

2. Casual social gatherings are only allowed with people you live with until November 23, 2020.

This does not apply to work, school or religious services, where masking and physical distancing are already enforced.

You should cancel plans with extended family and friends for the next two weeks. Telework if you can. Businesses and restaurants are not shut down because of this, but if you go out to eat, it should only be with people from your home.

- Businesses must post signage that lists COVID-19 symptoms and face mask and physical distancing requirements.
- Event hosts must require masks of all participants.
- Restaurants will require at least 6 feet of distance between household groups or seating parties.
- Bars must stop serving alcohol at 10 p.m.

3. All school extracurricular activities, sports and clubs are on hold for the duration of the orders.

- No organized or school-sponsored extracurricular activities, including sports and intramural events. Currently scheduled high school football games are allowed to continue with increased restrictions.
- No private, recreation, or club sports and athletic events.
- After November 23, 2020, it is anticipated weekly testing of participants in high school sports will be implemented.
- Intercollegiate sporting events are allowed due to already enforced health requirements.

4. College students, who either live on campus or attend at least one in-person class per week, are required to be tested for COVID-19 weekly.

- K-12 schools are open for in-person learning.
- College and university students who live on campus or attend an in-person class will be tested for COVID-19 each week.
- Testing is encouraged to begin as soon as possible, but must be implemented by the beginning of spring semester.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, April 28, 2020 (Gephardt Daily) — Lt. Gov. Spencer Cox announced an initiative called “A Mask for Every Utahn” in a Tuesday afternoon press briefing.

“As we transition to moderate risk, we need people to wear masks in public,” Cox said. “Today we are announcing the ‘A Mask For Every Utahn’ initiative.”

Funding for this program comes from the CARES Act.

“The program is designed to get a mask into the hands of everyone, especially those who do not have access to them,” Cox said. “They are being made by Utah manufacturing companies. This is a one-time program to create two million masks.

“Remember, a mask is for you to protect those around you. COVID spreads through droplets and even a cloth mask significantly stops the spread of droplets. Be part of the team.”

The masks can be ordered on the Coronavirus.utah.gov website.

The website states:

“A Mask for Every Utahn” is a state of Utah initiative, in partnership with the Utah Manufacturers Association, to help Utahns who may not have a face mask and are returning to the workplace or going out in public.

With Utah’s statewide mask mandate ending on April 10, Gov. Spencer Cox urged the state’s residents to “act with respect to your fellow humans” and told those who don’t want to wear masks not to “be a jerk” if a business maintains its restrictions.

“Don’t yell at the clerk; don’t yell at the store manager,” he said during a news conference on Thursday. “Don’t make a fool of yourself because you don’t want to wear masks.”

“This is not a free for all,” Cox added later. “We live in a society. We should care about each other. And if you don’t care about other people, then don’t go to places where other people are.”

He urged Utahns to consider their risk level and said those who haven’t been fully vaccinated when the mask mandate ends should consider continuing to wear a mask or not go out. And he urged people who may feel a business isn’t doing enough to combat the spread of the coronavirus to exercise patience as well.

“If you go into a restaurant and a table is closer to yours than maybe what you think [it should be], don’t yell at the waitress and tell her that you want people 6 feet away from you,” he said. “If you don’t feel comfortable going out and eating at a restaurant because you’re at risk, then get takeout.”

The new governor said he recognized that masks have been a divisive issue. But he said those who don’t want to wear a mask shouldn’t mock people who continue to wear them, and those who do

Some Utahns and businesses have wanted to see essential workers, or people who cannot do their job from home, get vaccinated before the mask mandate ends. “We’re so close to the end,” Cox stressed. “We’re getting vaccines out as much as possible. Please be kind to each other. Please be patient to each other. And let’s show people what an incredible place Utah is to live.”

those boxes," Rep. Ray, R-Clearfield, said Monday.

FOX 13 first reported on the bill on Friday. It was the subject of weekend negotiations between Utah's Department of Health, Governor Spencer Cox's office and the legislature.

The latest version would lift restrictions once Utah hit 1.5 million doses of the COVID-19 vaccine allocated; an average rate of 101 people per 100,000 positive cases, and an ICU utilization rate of less than 15%.

Rep. Ray acknowledged the bill made "some people nervous" but he said he had a lot of support.

Utah Department of Health executive director Rich Saunders had been negotiating the bill, but asked it include some more time for vaccines to take hold.

"We think it's worth the wait, give it about 2-3 weeks, to get the people vaccinated so we can get toward herd immunity," he said.

Gov. Cox's office told FOX 13 it was continuing to negotiate with Rep. Ray to find a "balance" with the policy he's proposing.

Gov. Spencer Cox gets vaccinated, says Utah on pace to lift all COVID-19 restrictions by July

State employees were told Wednesday they'll have to keep wearing masks through the end of May, Cox said, an example he encouraged other employers to follow since they, too, have "the ability and, I would say, an obligation," to keep workplaces safe.

"We want to make sure our employees all have an opportunity to get that vaccine before we take the masks away," he said, adding it will likely take until the end of May before everyone who wants to be vaccinated is able to get a shot. The state opened up vaccinations to all Utahns 16 and older last week.

The governor said "there's a difference between government mandating" that masks be worn and "giving people the freedom and the ability to choose" to require masks be worn by employees and customers. He said many businesses have already decided to keep the mask mandate after April 10.

Will Salt Lake County extend mandate?

The Salt Lake County Council is set to meet April 9 to consider whether to extend the mask mandate within the county, members of the county board of health were told earlier Thursday. Salt Lake County Mayor Jenny Wilson has said even though masks are effective in stopping the virus, she doesn't want "to stir things up."

Gary Edwards, the county health department's executive director, told the board the focus needs to be on vaccines and because the public expects the mask mandate to end on April 10,

"[Cox said] Trump 'was diabolically brilliant' in how he attacked NFL players for protesting by kneeling during the national anthem. He said Trump fed red meat to his right-wing base by managing to convert protests over racism into protests about supporting the flag and country."

AND HOW DOES SPENCER COX FEEL ABOUT US, UTAH'S TRUMP SUPPORTERS?

"Being uneducated is not the same as stupid."
