Guinan/AP Lang

Everything is an Argument EC.

For extra credit, go on a rhetorical devices treasure hunt. You must use texts found through the Iventory's Recommended Reading, on G's Inventory Homepage and listed below. Score.5 point toward your test score for each device you identify, up to 10 points. Include the author and title, the passage in which the device exists, and, of course, the device. See eg.

EG: From "Hospitality" by Shanaz Habib (on Brevity)
"...you bring out warm grilled bread and a fierce bubbling shakshuka, a blessing on this cold Brooklyn night, and you watch her eat and at first both of you are polite…"

Note the juxtaposition/contrast, of "warm grilled bread...on this cold Brooklyn night."

_____

How I Became An Artist

How to Write a Book

Advice from the best selling author

Rethinking Schools

The Creative Setting

Another Gun Death

MEDIUM

statgraphs

a great poem

McSweeney's Internet Tendency

Malcolm Gladwell's New Yorker Essays

Billy Collins' Poem for every School Day

Grantland--occasionally excellent sportswriting

This is indexed

Sports and Culture on DEADSPIN

Garrison Keilor's Writer's Almanac

Great Essays at Brevity

WATCH POEMS at Poetry Everywhere

297

How To Write About Africa

The 100 Most Beautiful Words