

A native Texan, Ryan Blankenship earned his B.S. in Wildlife and Fisheries Sciences from Texas A&M University, College Station, and his Master's of Science degree in Conservation Biology from the University of New South Wales, Sydney, Australia. Ryan is a Certified Associate Wildlife Biologist with an interest in restoration ecology and wildlife management. He has specific experience with resource management on public and private lands both locally and abroad, working with regulatory agencies such as Texas Parks and Wildlife Department and the New Zealand Department of Conservation.

Ryan has nearly fifteen years of experience handling native Texas wildlife as well as five years of experience with federally listed threatened and endangered species, migratory birds, wetland and stream mitigation, and environmental permitting with Local, State, and Federally Agencies. Ryan currently resides in Dallas, Texas while serving as a Senior Wildlife Biologist for Cox|McLain Environmental Consulting, Inc.