

The Unown Script in Victory Fire

Additional Public Release Comments

Sometimes in order to progress you have to go back.

In the case of the Continuation Project that means researching the comic to make sure that we understand the foundation that the story gets built on. Otherwise the story might end up conflicting with its source!

Most of the time things seem very obvious, but in some cases it can be a bit more tricky. Sulfur hid a lot of details in places we never expected.

And the Unown Scripts in Victory Fire are no exception.

Have fun digging through our findings!

And who knows? Maybe you find something we overlooked!

General

- the script is usually read from right to left, bottom to top
 - In some cases the direction is flipped
 - Naming convention for scripts: <page><panel>-<number>
 - E.g.: 353a-2 is a script in page 353, in panel A (first one) and since there are multiple scripts in this panel, it is script 2 in the order
