shefa
JEWISH PSYCHEDELIC SUPPORT

Thank you for partnering with us to get the word out about Jewish Journeys! In this document you'll find sample language, tips, and some helpful links.

Short copy:

A new study from @emoryuniversity @shefaflow seeks to understand Jewish perspectives on psychedelics. Religious or secular, whether you've tried psychedelics or not, if you're Jewish, 18+, and living in the US, you're eligible. Join the research at jewish-journeys.com. Participation is 100% online.

Long copy:

Jewish Journeys is the first ever population study exploring Jewish Americans' perspectives on psychedelics. A collaboration between Emory University and Shefa, this study seeks to understand the current cultural, religious, and existential attitudes, practices, and needs of the emerging Jewish psychedelic community. The final report and scientific papers will draw upon in-depth interviews of study participants to raise Jewish communal consciousness, inform psychedelic research and impact therapeutic applications. You can join the research by completing an anonymous and confidential survey at jewish-journeys.com

Here are two options for social media graphics:

Option 1 Option 2

Flyer tips:

We recommend printing out and posting flyers at your local supermarket, yoga studio, book shop, cafe, anywhere you think people will see it. Getting the word out offline will help us get the most diverse data possible!

If you post this, we'd love to see it- send us a photo!

Here's Flyer Option 1 Here's Flyer Option 2

Other Links:

- Press Release
- Study Landing Page
- Article: New study looks to better understand Jews' relationships with psychedelics
- Article: Breaking Taboos: Rabbi Leads Research On Psychedelics And Jewish Identity