Final Exam

Presentation

You create a visual, computer-projected presentation, a Retrospective, that includes topics from at least three consecutive units described above, presented as a story, a narrative. The communicative and grammatical issues from your three chapters should be woven into the body of your presentation. Your presentation can be a movie that includes a melange of video and still images, with voice-overs or text, or a powerpoint-style presentation with appropriate drawings/images included with your text, or a children's book. On the day of the final your artifact will be presented to the class.

Soon I'll give you more guidance on word-count requirements for this project; for now choose your three consecutive units, begin reviewing the main issues in them, and decide how you would like to present your project to the class!!
