

Create a spot the difference with any image of your choice.

You will need to make a new file that is large enough to fit both images. You will need two layers with the same image to get started. Remember, you can just drag the picture in to your new image twice.

