Hi friends! Last week, we listened to some special Mexican music-- mariachi music! I got a few emails from students and they said this music made them feel HAPPY. I loved hearing that!

Today, we're going to hear one of Mexico's most famous children's songs: La Cucaracha. Do YOU know what a "cucaracha" is? It's a cockroach and it looks like this:

If bugs are your thing, this song is for you! Just like in America, Mexican children hear and learn funny songs that get passed down from their parents and grandparents. "La Cucaracha" is one of those songs. Click on the cute cockroach and link below to hear an English version of "La Cucaracha!"

Now, take a listen to the mariachi version of the song! You'll notice that this one is in Spanish. Spanish is the primary language in Mexico. Click on the sombrero and link below to hear it.
