NARRATIVES OF PROFESSIONAL HELPING

A Multidisciplinary Peer-Reviewed Online Journal
Published by Salem State University School of Social Work

Call for Narratives: [Proposed Title]

Submissions due: [At least 2 months after proposal accepted, can be extended 1 month]

Rationale

[Brief (ideally 1 paragraph) rationale for why you are proposing this Special Section: Why is it important? Why should authors submit?]

Aim and Scope of Special Section

[Description of the types of contributions you seek. You might start with something like this: “The guest editor(s) is/are seeking narratives from...” or “The editor is particularly interested in...”]

This Special Section Focuses on Narratives From...

[Explanation of those from whom you are seeking narratives: What kinds of helping professionals (e.g., students, consumers, educators, practitioners, etc.)? Please include language regarding preferred format and length of desired submissions: Reflections’ policy is to accept submissions ranging in length from 1,200-8,000 words. Short narratives focused on a single vignette, longer stories with multiple portrayals of interaction and references to the literature, and other forms of creative expression (poetry, visual art) with an accompanying narrative reflection that grounds the work for helping professionals are welcome.]

References

[As appropriate. Citations and references are not required.]

For inquiries about submissions for this Special Section, please contact Guest Editor:

[Name, degree, organization, email (phone optional) of the lead Guest Editor. This is the person who will work directly with the Editorial Leadership Team and have access to our Open Journal System. Additional Guest Editors may be listed below.]

Additional Guest Editor(s)

[Additional Guest Editors are optional. Provide contact information for all additional Guest Editors here.]
