Hamze Awawde, Palestinian peace activist, in conversation with Rabbi Cat Zavis, sharing his perspective on the past, present, and future realities and possibilities for Palestine.

Tuesday, Feb. 11th at Lakeshore Baptist Church, 3534 Lakeshore Ave., Oakland and live streamed. Doors open at 6:45pm, Talk at 7pm PST. You can watch the talk live at bit.ly/3E2aKdX.

Hamze Awawde is a Palestinian advocate for peace, reconciliation, and a shared future. With a lifelong commitment to human dignity and justice, he has dedicated his work to amplifying Palestinian voices and creating spaces for dialogue that break through cycles of violence. His bold new initiative is the Center for Palestinian Renewal (CPR), a think-and-do tank that seeks to empower Palestinian perspectives and promote citizen diplomacy. Awawde's mission is to foster connections, build bridges, and advance a vision of justice and mutual recognition that is rooted in equality.
