

Welcome to the ETW Summer Sizzler Series

Here are the guidelines:

Write a piece, 50 to 300 words, that responds to one of the following prompts:

- ★ What is a noteworthy moment from literature wherein summer plays an interesting role?
- ★ Summer is a special part of the academic calendar. What's a significant summer moment, ritual, memory, or pastime from your life as a teacher or student?
- ★ Where do your thoughts go in the summertime? What does it inspire within you? Where does the muse take you in the summertime?

Submit your piece via email to englishteacherweekly@gmail.com with the subject line "Summer Sizzler."

We're looking for writing in your own voice, of your own mind, for our ETW readers. Include any biographical information or links you'd like included in the post.

Contribution deadline: July 4th

Submissions will be vetted and published around mid-July.

Don't hesitate to email me with questions or ideas. Thanks!
