

"I was walking all by myself in that dark and dense forest. Suddenly i turned around and saw a glimpse of light far away. I was so happy to see any human signs. I don't remember how i end up here, when i opened my eyes all i saw was darkness. As now i saw a light i walked towards it. When i reached the light i saw a village. Many childrens were playing outside and elders were gossiping with each other. I walked towards them. Then what i saw stunned me, they can not see me. I am walking right beside them and they aren't showing any reactions. I tried to talk to them but it seems like they can not hear me at all. When i tried to hold a hand of a child, my hand went right past to him. I was so traumatised. Suddenly i heard someone screaming. The happy environment of the village was suddenly gone. I saw some men were trying to toss fire sticks towards the huts, they all had their mouth covered with cloth. Villagers were running here and there. I tried to help them but no one could hear me. I felt so helpless. Those people burned the houses and kidnapped every single one of them. When they were taking them away i saw a man leading them. I couldn't see his face, it was blurry. But when i came near i saw that he was a powerful politician. I was so shocked when i saw he was looking right at me, he tried to reach me with his hand. I screamed and woke up. It was all a dream!. I was a nightmare. I drank some water and started thinking about why i saw such a strange dream then suddenly i remembered a similar incident happend a few days ago. A whole village was burned and all villegers were gone. As a Police i couldn't solve that mystery. But now i think i know who did it. Someone just showed me the real criminal. I don't know why. Now i will try to find proof to arrest that politician."

Note: God is always watching over us. He will always get criminals with his charisma.