

° ☾ ° ★. HAPPY BIRTHDAY LIZZY! ° ☾ ° ★.

From Lulu The Great (8ThompsonSisters19)

Here we go again with me needing to be different from everyone else and actually type out your birthday message instead of doing (probably) the easier way for everyone involved, but who is going to stop me? WHO?! Honestly, for the love that is all holy, please find someone to stop me. This horror has gone on for long enough, but regardless, let's move on to the actual topic at hand, shall we?

Happy Birthday Sweetie! I know that over this past year we haven't talked much. Life has gotten to the best of us, but that doesn't mean that our relationship dwindled in any way. I'm seriously so proud of everything that you have achieved for yourself. Your hard work is seriously paying off and it truly shows with the quality of content that you keep producing each and every day. Though, I always fear that you are doing too much, so please find the time to relax and do something else like touching grass once in a blue moon. I love you so much Lizzy and I wish you all the best for years to come.

Like always, I shall be around if you ever need anything (though, I don't know why you would want me), all you need to do is just call. Once again, I adore you thru and thru and I can't wait to see what new heights (regardless if it's for the community or in your daily life) you achieve for yourself within the coming years. Forever yours,

That one old guy you accepted into ERS

Happy birthday Elizabeth!! I am so extremely lucky to be married to not only the best partner I could ever ask for, but also the most amazing editor I've literally ever seen O.o every single day, you continue to blow me away with the level of qualityyy, like omg! Your time at university is going to turn you into a superstar!! 😊 I hope this MEP can even come close to the awesomeness that you make for your studio and other ones all the time!!!

It's insane to think of how much you have become in the more than 4 years that I've known you, and I can tell from how much of a strong, mature, and overall beautiful person that you are that you are going to soar to even more amazing places, and I am honored to be alongside you to witness all of it and to be able to have your back and support you throughout it all 😊 after all these years, you're still way out of my league ^^ hehe

I hope today is as special of a day for you as your presence in all of our lives has been so incredibly special for us! Happy birthday, Elizabeth, I love you so much!! ❤️❤️❤️
