Recent Webcast includes video of webcast and audio rip. “Experiencing Transformation” Live Webcast 4 April 2012 You’re a member of Riggio’s Rants because you know you want a better life ... regardless of how good your life is today, you want to improve, you’re a seeker of elite performance and extraordinary success. You probably have a sense that there’s a way you could be living that’s perfect for you ... completely aligned with who you are at your core ... and you aren’t living from that place, yet. Since you believe that no matter where you are beginning from there’s always opportunity to improve, you’re also likely to recognize that when you do realize the complete alignment with you you innately are ... what I call operating from your “Success Blueprint” ... that everything you do will become natural and effortless for you, and it’s at least in part what you’ve been moving towards.

One other thing you may already know, or maybe not, is that you are largely driven in your life by your Life Story ... when you get it right it can be the powerful resource you have supporting you in getting whatever you want ... but when you get it wrong there’s nothing more debilitating than your Life Story. Everything you have been told about success — the 7 laws of this, the 5 secrets of that, the ultimate rule about this other thing .. are at best misguided ... and at worst intentionally designed to keep you stuck in your present reality. What no one is telling you is that real, lasting, and profound success (however YOU define it) in your life is found at the intersection of your Success Blueprint and your Life Story.

This intersection between your Success Blueprint and your Life Story is the secret of every elite performer I’ve ever met .. in business, in sport, in the arts, you name it these folks get it ... it’s also the secret I learned from my own mentor, Royce Fraser that changed my life too. If you’re curious about how this can impact your life then you need to join me for the FREE “Experiencing Transformation” Live Webcast where I’ll share the proof, the story behind it, and begin to show you how you can uncover and incorporate the intersection of your Success Blueprint and your Life Story.
