

r/StarWars Your ban from r/StarWars has changed:

expand all collapse all

[\[-\]](#) subreddit message via /r/StarWars [M] sent 21 days ago

You have been permanently banned from participating in r/StarWars. You can still view and subscribe to r/StarWars, but you won't be able to post or comment.

Note from the moderators:

| Tros spoilers - It IS a spoiler that palpatine may be back, read the spoiler rules

If you have a question regarding your ban, you can contact the moderator team for r/StarWars by replying to this message.

Reminder from the Reddit staff: If you use another account to circumvent this subreddit ban, that will be considered a violation of the Content Policy and can result in your account being suspended from the site as a whole.

Permalink Delete Report Block Subreddit Mark Unread Reply

/u/JSK23 ...:

expand all collapse all

[\[-\]](#) to /u/JSK23 sent 21 days ago

You proceeded to mute me for 72 hours after already having a 60 day ban, you aren't even giving reasons for actions, and don't regard defenses. This, to me, looks like an abuse of power. You literally couldve just told me to remove my post, and as long as you gave reasons that made sense I would have. Instead you banned me and removed the post, and denied any sort of reasons behind once I provided how my post fit within the rules. It is clear that you aren't willing to give reasons for your actions. If you can't give reasons for why what I did was 60 days ban worthy, then how am I supposed to know what not to do and learn from this?

What transpired in the past few days has shown me that you are not a mod, but a tyrant who silences those with differing opinions. But it doesn't matter what I say here, if you cared about what members of the starwars community said, then you wouldn't have removed a post with 2k upvotes and gold on it, call it a shitpost, and mute the creator. Happy early cake day, I hope you mature as the years go by.

Permalink

/u/JSK23 ...:

expand all collapse all

[\[-\]](#) to /u/JSK23 sent 21 days ago

You proceeded to mute me for 72 hours after already having a 60 day ban, you aren't even giving reasons for actions, and don't regard defenses. This, to me, looks like an abuse of power. You literally couldve just told me to remove my post, and as long as you gave reasons that made sense I would have. Instead you banned me and removed the post, and denied any sort of reasons behind once I provided how my post fit within the rules. It is clear that you aren't willing to give reasons for your actions. If you can't give reasons for why what I did was 60 days ban worthy, then how am I supposed to know what not to do and learn from this?

What transpired in the past few days has shown me that you are not a mod, but a tyrant who silences those with differing opinions. But it doesn't matter what I say here, if you cared about what members of the starwars community said, then you wouldn't have removed a post with 2k upvotes and gold on it, call it a shitpost, and mute the creator. Happy early cake day, I hope you mature as the years go by.

Permalink

[\[-\]](#) from /u/JSK23 sent 21 days ago

Listen here. I gave you a reason in the ban message, for spoilers. You didn't like the message. That's too bad. I'm not your parents. I'm not here to coddle you.

Your right, it doesn't matter what you say here. Your denial or ignorance of the spoiler rules is your own fault. Not ours.

Blocked

Permalink Delete Report Block User Mark Unread Reply

r/StarWars You've been temporarily banned from participating in r/StarWars:

expand all collapse all

[\[-\]](#) subreddit message via /r/StarWars [\[M\]](#) sent 21 days ago

You have been temporarily banned from participating in r/StarWars. This ban will last for 60 days. You can still view and subscribe to r/StarWars, but you won't be able to post or comment.

Note from the moderators:

┆ Tros spoilers - It IS a spoiler that palpatine may be back, read the spoiler rules

If you have a question regarding your ban, you can contact the moderator team for r/StarWars by replying to this message.

Reminder from the Reddit staff: If you use another account to circumvent this subreddit ban, that will be considered a violation of the Content Policy and can result in your account being suspended from the site as a whole.

Permalink Delete Report Block Subreddit Mark Unread Reply

[\[-\]](#) to /r/StarWars sent 21 days ago

This isn't a spoiler, and a 60 day ban doesn't make sense at all for a first offense. I read your spoiler rules, and here's my defense. 1. "Example 1, If the Obi-Wan show episode 1 has an appearance from Anakin Skywalker, in any form, and this hasn't been shown by Disney trailer or announcement then it IS a spoiler." Palpatine voice (new lines), throne, eyes, etc. have all been seen in OFFICIAL Disney trailers, posters, etc.

1. "If you very clearly base your speculation on leaks, its probably going to end up in a ban. Tag it accordingly." This had nothing to do with leaks, as I didn't say anything about what happens, only that he will be in it.
2. "Example 2, if Previews releases a comic synopsis that is months from release and mentions the plot, that is a spoiler!" The movie is 8 days away.

"It IS a spoiler than Palpatine may be back" This seems like denial of what you know is true, and has been confirmed several times over. I want to be civil, but this is rather stupid. If you don't like what I have to say, or feel that it is unwanted/"causes issues" give me a warning, or give me legitimate reasons for a 60 day ban for a first offense please.

Permalink Reply

[\[-\]](#) from /u/JSK23 [\[M\]](#) via /r/StarWars sent 21 days ago

Nah we're good