CHARACTER: Keira Lancaster - F, 20s–40s, BIPOC

RECORDING TIME: 2 to 5 hours

DESCRIPTION: Keira Lancaster is a brilliant psychologist and the new head of the Anomalous Research Commission, since everyone else has been fired. While she feels overwhelmed by the new workload, Keira shows an unparalleled fascination with paranatural anomalies and truly believes in the Company's mission to study and contain them for the good of humanity. She's got a dry wit and a spacey affect, perhaps as a result of her many strange experiments.

1	Our field agents have been reporting increased sightings of occult glyphs, so we've installed a blacklight at your desk. You know how to use one of these, right?
2	Has anyone seen a red book around the office? Drawing of an owl on the cover? If you do see it, try not to stare at it for more than three seconds. And call me immediately.
3	These results don't make any sense! What kind of anomaly gives off hexaphasic resonance with only one mode of paranatural expression?! Whatever we're missing here is gonna drive me insane...
