

Anders, This may not be for you

Hey Anders,

I came across your website and the 'Take A Quiz' section is great for personalizing results and making customers feel as if your plan is specifically tailored to them.

You can add a few tweaks to increase your sales though.

One of them is very simple, It's the power of words.

Words provide endless opportunities for influence.

Take advantage of this powerful tool to increase your sales by setting up a newsletter.

Sending people mail where you provide them with free value about fitness and information about you will allow your potential customers to grow fond of you.

This makes those people easy to convert into sales for your business.

If you are serious about growing your business, we can discuss this more over a call if you'd like.

What you do with this information is now up to you.

Thanks,
Hamza
