Important! Before You Commission Me

All my commissions default to Surprise Me, Wing-It, or Skeb style, a type of commission where no works in progress are given. This type of commission preserves the flow of the artistic process, leading to significantly less delay on completion. Artistic freedom fosters faith in the artist's vision and style, letting me fall in love with the art I am creating for you.

If I forget a detail that was documented in the references you gave me, then I will fix the artwork, free of charge!

You can purchase revision rounds if you need more control. See Additional Options menu.
