

“Good Timin’ Woman” Voice Roles

A short game about prostitutes in the deep south. Tone is quite silly and irreverent. Dukes of Hazzard-like.

First off, this is a jam game, not a paid job.

All the characters with the possible exception of Jerry have a US southern accent, or if I can’t find enough people with southern accents, at least a neutral enough American accent that they could be from the south.

If possible, hoping for strong southern accents for the main roles in particular.

If you’re able to voice multiple roles, especially one of the minor roles in addition to another, that would be awesome.

Main Roles:

Leah: Player character. Prostitute. Capable and resourceful. Early to mid-20’s

Narrator: Waylon Jennings, or if he decides not to come back from the dead to take this role, a middle aged southern man.

Supporting Roles:

Natalie: Prostitute. The one in charge of the whore house most of the time these days. 30’s.

Eli: Gas station attendant. Same age as Leah. Good ole southern boy.

Olivia: Diner waitress. 30’s

Lawson: Motel clerk. A bit nerdier than most around these parts. Also around the same age as Leah.

Minor Roles (only a couple lines):

Britney: prostitute

John: john

Jerry: undercover cop