

Fueler Writing Challenge Day 3

Write a thread: "How the internet has shaped your life? (8-10 points)"

Access to Information:

The internet has been like a magic library in my hand. Therefore, every time I have a query or wish to know something, I type it in the search engine and within a few seconds, the entire world is at my fingertips. When I need to do my project or a DIY project, the internet is my encyclopedia.

Connecting with Friends and Family:

The ultimate wonder of the World Wide Web is that I can communicate with people despite their locations. I can use video calls, instant messaging platforms and social media to share moments and talk to friends and relatives regardless of the distance.

Entertainment Galore:

Whether it is watching funny YouTube videos, playing video games, or listening to music, the internet is my preferred way of having fun. At the touch of a button, I can find new passions, locate gifted authors, and enjoy my favourite shows.

Creativity Unleashed:

The internet is a creative sector. I can share my drawings, tell my stories, and even learn new artistic methods by watching tutorials. Such places as YouTube are the ones where I can reveal myself and learn from others.

Discovering New Interests:

The internet has introduced so many interesting things that I would never have known existed. The internet has brought a new world of interest; from weird science experiments to bizarre hobbies, the internet has made individuals lead more interesting lives.

Online Shopping Adventures:

The internet has modified my shopping behaviour. In the home, I can view various products, read reviews, and place orders for goods. It is like a virtual mall where I can get almost everything that I need.

Global Awareness and News:

With the use of the internet, I can see what is happening in the world. The news websites and social media platforms allow me to see the world through another lens, and I can see what is happening outside of my circle.

Educational Platforms:

The internet is my virtual classroom. Alternatively, I can learn new skills or study an area of interest to me through online courses. Using education platforms allows me to acquire new knowledge quickly and interactively.

Building a Digital Identity:

The use of the internet has enabled me to develop an online presence. The beginning is about telling about my thoughts on a blog, and the end is making profiles on social networks, and I learn how to act in the world of the Internet and interact in a way that serves the cyber community.

The internet is my best friend and has enriched my life in so many ways. It is a very powerful medium that not only changed the way I learn, interact and discover the endless mysteries of this world, but it does it all from my screen.
