

PITCH BIBLE THINGY

THE CONCEPT

Kamikaze is a limited series inspired by the likes of Takeshi's Castle (and to some extent it's US dub/adaptation MXC: Most Extreme Elimination Challenge), Mortal Kombat, Survivor, the Jackbox Party Pack series, Super Smash Bros., Mario Party, Mario Kart, MTV's Celebrity Deathmatch, Jackass, the Channel 4 UK series "Banzai" and some other things. It features various characters competing in various games, challenges, dares and stunts, all connected with a serialized storyline while also spoofing pop culture, or mocking various celebrities, athletes, sports announcers, politicians, with the occasional sexual pun.

THE PREMISE

The inhabitants of Imaginopolis and beyond have been brought to a mysterious uncharted island. Some were invited there, some got lost at sea and stumbled upon it, some were flat out kidnapped/abducted and dragged to it and others just appeared on the island one day for unknown reasons. They have been brought here from all parts of the universe both known and unknown to complete in a series of twisted, warped and anarchic challenges emceed by the big-nosed, blue-faced wonder himself, McZee.

This island was once ruled by King Leopold, but then was overthrown by an mysterious evil emperor who plots to enslave humanity. As a result, a resistance was formed to combat the emperor and his empire.

The emperor promises that whoever manages to survive these demented trials will have the honor of fighting him in a one-on-one, mano-on-mano, hand-to-hand no holds barred fight in his lair, located at the very top of his fortress, which is located in the very center of the island itself!

Along the way, alliances will be formed, blood will be spilled and at the end of it all, the true identity of the emperor... shall at last be revealed.

Who will win this game of good and evil? Which warrior will be tested and judged on whom among them possess the deepest "warrior's spirit"?

THE FORMAT

Each episode of this series features the participants competing in a series of challenges. Viewers are given a short amount of time by McZee to 'place their bets' on who will win before the challenge starts. The episodes would also feature sketches and wraparound segments that tells the latest installment of The Resistance's war with The Kamikaze Empire. Both sides would follow the progress of the players as they moved through the challenges. Sometimes a special guest will also make an appearance. At the end of each episode is "The Final Rushout", in which the contestants who survived all challenges engage in a face off directly against a villain or monster who claimed a part of the island on ?????????'s behalf in one final assault on them with the goal of reclaiming it for The Resistance.

Here's how each episode would play out:

1. Cold Opening
2. Intro

3. Greetings from the hosts
4. Preview
5. Wraparound segment #1
6. Game #1
7. Hiro’s Interview
