

Conflict of Interest Disclosure Form

It is the policy to ensure balance, independence, objectivity, and scientific rigor in JPSAD. All authors are expected to disclose to the readers any real or apparent conflict(s) of interest that may have a direct bearing on the article's subject matter. This pertains to relationships with pharmaceutical companies, biomedical device manufacturers, or other corporations whose products or services may be related to the article's subject matter or who have sponsored the study.

The policy's intent is not to prevent authors from having a potential conflict of interest from publication. It is merely intended that any potential conflict should be identified openly so that the readers may form their own judgments about the article with the full disclosure of the facts. It is for the readers to determine whether the authors' outside interest may reflect a possible bias in the exposition of the conclusions presented.

The corresponding author will complete and submit this form with the manuscript to the Journal's Editorial Office.
