

Quality Assurance Engineer
Astrograph Software
Santa Cruz, CA

A crackerjack software team at a local company with global outreach, AstroGraph Software was founded in 1995 by Astrologer Henry Seltzer and has been on a growth curve ever since. Now we are looking for a part-time to full-time QA engineer to complement our skill set in a relaxed and work-from-home atmosphere. We are on a variety of platforms, including Android, iPhone, Windows, and Mac desktop. As an additional plus, by providing cutting-edge astrology software to a growing installed base of amateur to professional astrologers, we are on the right side of history as well.

As a Quality Assurance Engineer, you will be responsible for testing and isolating issues, plus creating and implementing strategies for coordination and documentation of existing tests. We are a small, family-run organization, so that there is opportunity for growth within the company.

The right candidate will be a self-starter, independently responsible and well-organized, with at least a passing interest in the mystical subject of Western Astrology.
