

Yours

---

This is Amy's signature Play Way class!

Is your dog brilliant at home but shuts down at the show? Or does he bark and lunge at people or dogs on walks? Does she seem generally stressed, whether frantic about it or quiet and vigilant? All of these common behaviors can be addressed through Therapeutic Social Play! For a pet dog, dealing with behavior challenges is a good idea. For a competition dog, it is non-negotiable. Our goal is to make your dog enthusiastic about performance (and life!), and connected to you and confident in your relationship!

Dr. Amy Cook will address the issue of fearful and reactive dogs, both in and out of competition. Rather than teaching you the behaviors that are required for success in the ring of any specific sport, this class will teach you how to make your dog comfortable, confident, and focused in a novel and challenging environments, which then can support your in-ring performances. Come learn about The Play Way!

Gold level participants will be personally coached on how to work through their individual issues. You'll spend the first part (or even half!) of class learning or improving your therapeutic social play so he can relax and have fun, and then for the remainder of the class, you'll learn how to apply that to your dog's situation through setups. Your dog will learn to look at his triggers in a new way, and play his stress away! This level is ideal if you need plenty of support getting a plan in place and applying it correctly, and if your dog can play with you at least a little bit at home.

This class is focused on the individual Gold level students. To gain the most value from this class, all students should commit the time to reading the advice given to several Gold level students throughout the class in order to create a workable plan for their own dogs. Many times, the gem you need for your own dog will be in the thread of someone else!

---

Mine

This is Amy's signature playway class!

Is your dog confident at home but terrified of leaving the house?

Do they

- Lunge at people on walks?
- Bark at other dogs ?

- look Visually stressed?
- Pull on their leash?

Yes, but what is the solution to these "pup problems"?

This Can all be solved with T.S.P (Therapeutic Social Play) We will make training exciting, effective, and fast!

Dr. Amy Cook will teach your dog how to be calm in challenging environments including competition's

Gold level participants will be shown

1 on 1 how to work through their issues, You will spend the first part (or even half) Of class learning or improving your T.S.P

This ensures your dog can learn while having fun! For the rest of class we will teach you how to apply our methods to your dog's situation through setups. Your dog will learn to literally play their stress away!

Gold level is ideal for those who need extra support in setting up a plan and applying it correctly, AND have the time to play with their dog at home!

It is recommended to read the advice given to other gold level members. Many times the gem you need for your own dog will be in the hands of somebody else!