Please text me now to make sure it works – 862-377-1350. Also please text me (do NOT use Meetup) when out – I do worry.

It took me 44 minutes from the lake when I was in a mellow mood and taking pictures/notes. A typical non-winter time for me is 35 minutes plus/minus. Times obviously will depend upon how fast you are moving – use this as a guideline. If you take more than an hour, unless you are moving very slowly you are lost – call.

00: Start: At Southwest part of lake, turn right (if going from the north) or left (if coming from the East) onto Cannonball Trail. Blazes are white C inside a red circle.

04: Start Indian Rock Trail Blazes are upside down red triangles inside white rectangle.

10: Turn onto Wanaque Ridge Trail. Turn right going up a small hill – ignore left hand turn signs. Blazes are orange.

23: Reach stream and cross it. Wanaque Ridge Trail goes right shortly after the stream. You go straight ahead picking up Pete's Path . There will be a rock with yellow paint. Pete's Path blazes are red bar inside a yellow rectangle. You should be on a flat trail now. If you start going up a hill, you missed the turn!

36: Turn left and start going down the hill (if you get into an open area you missed the turn) and then after 20’ or so, turn left following Pete’s Path.

41: Almost out, at dead end take a left and then an immediate right. It is easy to keep going straight after the left turn. If it takes more than 3 minutes from here, you missed the turn.

44: Out, you are home!
