Struggle for Power in Austria

Recent reports have come out that there has been a power struggle in Austria between the Austrian Fatherland Front and local Nazis. The Austrian Fatherland Front has managed to retain power within Austria, however it still looks like it shall be a grim time for Austria as the Nazis continue to gain power within their nation.

Catholic Church Built

Sponsored by the British Fatherland Front, a Catholic Church has recently been built in London. It is lead by only the most devout and has the mission statement to spread the true faith to these long time heretic lands. Results are not expected quickly however due to the strict selection process of this church's officials it should remain efficient. This seems to only be the first step in many to bringing the Roman Catholic faith to Britain. It is also designed specifically as though Austrian architects had built it in an attempt to increase the British awe of the Austrian culture.

General "From the Front" Info

Hello, while my name may not be known my work is. I am the founder of the Fatherland Front and the creator, and writer, for this very newspaper. Please do continue to read newspapers from us to get the most important news from the best source. Sadly this must wrap up our first issue, while nothing truly interesting happened this time we hope to bring you the most gripping stories in the future. Best of regards, the Fatherland Front.
