Dear[Mention the name of the recipient]

My name is [Mention the name], and I've spent the last [mention the time] years working as a waitress at [Mention the company] in [Mention the place]. Working at [Mention the company name] has always been a dream of mine.

I love being a server because it gives me great pleasure to serve my customers a dinner that is more than just a plate of food. I want to make each of my customers' dining experiences one to remember for a lifetime. Working in a high-end restaurant means that many of my clients are celebrating a special occasion, so making their event great is my first focus.

My resume is provided, as well as an application and two letters of recommendation. One letter is from [mention the company] executive chef, and the other is from the Restaurant's weekend hostess, who can attest to the fact that I have regular clients who ask me to be their waitress when making dinner reservations. My own customer service philosophy aligns with [Mention the name]'s aim of providing a spectacular dining experience for every guest.

Recognize the significance of paying special attention to consumers who say they have food allergies. I understand that if they eat anything to which they are allergic, it could have a major influence on their health, so I am extremely cautious in these instances. I make it a point to be well-versed in the cuisine and its important items. If I'm not sure about the answer to a customer's question, I always ask the chef.

I understand the importance of paying extra attention to customers who claim to have food allergies. I understand that if they eat something to which they are allergic, it could have a significant impact on their health, so I proceed with caution. I make it a point to know everything there is to know about.
