

WearConsciously team, I hope you're doing well.

I was checking my social media and a particular post from you was in my feed, It grabbed my attention instantly. Yes I'm talking about the post you made on October 6th, the one with the man on a blue button shirt wearing a black watch with light gray bands.

Nowadays businesses struggle a lot in the digital world to grab the attention of the average consumer, it is a constant competition, and in my opinion you seem to be doing tremendously well in that area.

However we couldn't help notice that there are a lot of aspects you could enhance and challenges we noticed in your fantastic eco-friendly business.

Our agency specializes in solving any problem you are facing in the digital world, from your SM content, to your landing page. You name it and we have your back fully covered.

I was wondering if we could schedule a call, zoom or whatever you'd like,so we can customize and tailor the best possible solution for your obstacles. We've analyzed and investigated your business and we think the world needs more brands like yours, someone who cares about the world.

We absolutely thank you for your time and dedication for what you do, we'll be in touch.

Sincerely Sebastián Krawetz.
