

TW: Stalking/Ban Evasion/Sexual Assault/Rape/Manipulation

I've debated writing this, as I tried to be private with most of my issues. However, when someone won't actually try and change and keeps repeating a cycle of hurting others and manipulating people, it's best to speak out for accountability.

I want to start by saying back in the Summer of '21, Sonic and Vera began dating. During that time, they had many issues with Sonic being able to commit to being a partner to Vera as she is Poly and he wanted to be the only one for her. Why is this important you ask? Well they split and her and I became partners on November 9th, 2021 after having started getting serious about a potential partnership around the end of October '21.

During our first couple of months as partners we both had conversations with one another about not wanting a 3rd at the time, it was just myself, Vera, and her life partner Shadow. Which I was fine with. However, on multiple occasions Sonic tried overstepping these boundaries, posting now deleted subliminal tweets, and getting frustrated and lashing out when his advances were discarded.

However, during that time he became a little much for me and I had a chat with Vera and she agreed to block him on both Twitch and Twitter to appease how he was making me feel. This was December/January of 2021/2022.

During that time he used a burner account named the_uwu_king_of_uwu, now named BuckleyBot01 (He reused and renamed the burner account to use as his channel's custom bot) to come into her stream. Doing so, he adopted a whole fake persona to try and fool everyone into thinking he was some random person. Going so far as to say he found her on his FYP on TikTok, pretended he was a nurse in the hospital tending to Covid patients (He was working as a dispatcher at the time, zero nurse experience), self promo'd himself to get a reaction by mentioning his channel redemptions (voice impressions), mentioning his "partner" as to garner a reaction again, and even infiltrated her discord during the block/ban just to chat with her under this disguise. I'll post the proof below.

One of her mods cross referenced it with the chat history of Pokemon Community Game at the same time frame which you will see here (16:48 mark).

This shows the real name used that caught the Bulbasaur during the timestamp referenced. Both are red flags, he evaded a ban from a space he was not welcome in by using a burner account, then changed it later on and also pretended to be someone else while doing so. I'll post the images of him in the Discord under this name as well here.

I hope you all are doing well have a wonderful day today! Does anyone have ideas on what we should play for our community night on Tuesday? 🐻 🍌

The_UwU_King_Of_UwU 1/14/2022 5:11 AM

I know jackbox games are fun, could stream them in the just chatting category? I know that's a little iffy but from what i know using the actual jackbox category invites negativity. If not that could do mario kart?

Good morning @everyone! What do you guys wanna play for community night tomorrow? 🐻 🍌

I'm thinking Mario Kart but totally not sure. Or jackbox. 🤔

The_UwU_King_Of_UwU 1/17/2022 6:00 AM

Both sound amazing, with jackbox you could just call it a community night for the title and stream in the just chatting category? I guess don't advertise it's jackbox to minimize the amount of negative people? that's my guess

True. We can do that 🤔

We did not discover this until recently, which makes the issues I was going to talk about even more so concerning, especially since the account was made in 2018 and Sonic's main account was made in 2020 shortly before he started streaming.

On to the next, after some time myself and Vera ultimately took a break from our partnership in February of 2022. (We got back together in April of 2022.) During this time she unblocked him, however, the pattern of behavior didn't change. As seen in this apology here.

I was very much wrong for the things I said about you Chris, it was both immature and disrespectful of me to say what I did and I genuinely am sorry for my actions. There is no excuse for my behavior and even if there was one it would've absolutely been an invalid one for the way I was. You don't deserve to be disrespected in the way that I did, and I hope later down the road we can work towards being friends again?

Chris I was very disrespectful to both you and Ash and no amount of apologizing will ever fix what I've done. My behavior was childish, extremely disrespectful to the both of you, and inexcusable. You both do wonders to the community and everyone you interact with and in no way shape or form did either of you deserve to be treated the way I treated you both. I have a lot of work to do, and unfortunately this was just a lot to process all at once, but I'm going to be holding myself far more accountable for my actions and truly doing anything and everything I can to break this unhealthy cycle. Mentally I am extremely unwell, I'm taking the steps to get better, but those steps haven't been as nearly big as they need to be. I am beyond sorry with all of my heart and soul for impacting you in such a negative way, and honestly....I really appreciate you hitting me with reality, something that no matter how painful, was something I genuinely needed to hear. (edited)

You don't have to reply to this, and to be honest I'm not expecting one either...just wanted you to know that.

During my separation with Vera, we had an instance that he knew of. He was blocked by me on my Twitter at the time and somehow got around my ban to see I was coming to hangout with her. Doing so, he made a subliminal tweet about me and even went to her to talk crap about me to her which I found later that day. Upon finding out I had a sit down with Vera, and spoke to her about how I was feeling and how attacked I felt by someone coming after me who I had not even spoken to outside of Twitch and was blocked by me personally. You will see the apology dates are 2 days apart, from one fractured “I’m sorry” to the same exhausted fractured “I’m sorry”.

Now to get to more “modern times”. As of last year, he and Vera were life partners and me and Vera stopped talking for a while. We had our own issues and life took us apart, however, the BIGGEST was her friendship with him before we split in February ‘24. He would constantly overstep boundaries, make myself uncomfortable, and ultimately she would fight me on my feelings which caused the biggest riff between us. Aside from our other issues.

During that time they also met up, and there are other issues there that I will not address because they are not mine to say, but I will say that some of the things that his ex accused him of were true and at the time of writing this Vera is seeking therapy to process what he physically did to her. We have spoken and she plans to come forward with more information once she is fully able to process these things to tell everyone more about what she faced and what actually took place, because it’s not mine to tell.

However, speaking directly to the offender, we know what you did Sonic. All of us. We will not let you get by with it this time just because your ex muddied the waters with lies, she did herself an injustice but guaranteed you WILL be held accountable for your sexual offenses this time. There was a witness to her fallout after you committed your crime, you took her peace and trust away, that is something she will never get back. It’s unfair that you get to just go on living, knowing what you did, the things did to her, and the accountability you don’t have for yourself. You’re a creep, and a rapist. Just because you have a partner does not mean you’re entitled to their body when they are deliberately pushing you away.

Disclaimer: I am very against false accusations of rape and SA so I don’t say any of what I said lightly

Now on to recent events, in December Vera reached out to me via email. We had a discussion about our issues from the past. I owned my mistakes, she owned hers, we both apologized and told each other we'd do better. Ultimately we decided to meet and sit and chat in person, in doing so we decided our friendship could be restarted and I even agreed to sit down with Sonic and bury the hatchet for her sake because of the new year approaching.

On January 1st, I sat down with her, Sonic, and Shadow at the kitchen table and spoke directly to both of them. I apologized to Shadow for my mistakes with him in the past and some things I had overstepped and miscommunicated on, and I told Sonic we would bury the hatchet and I was moving on. However, beforehand I told them both that I was not there to get back with Vera, we were simply friends and nothing more. We also gave him the opportunity to say no and we'd walk away with no questions asked. However, he chose not to say anything and we moved on.

Fast forward about a week and I went with Vera to the coast for a trip just to get away and spend some time alone since we both had been overloaded with work and were stressed. It was just an overnight trip for friends, nothing more. During that time I expressed my excitement to be friends with Sonic due to the fact I don't have many friends in the area and aside from her and Shadow it would be nice to have someone else to hang with. I even took her to places where she could buy them both things and helped her look for specific things for them both.

This was January 12 and 13th. On January 16th he decided to split with her. I was working at a 2nd department at the time but spent almost an hour on the phone with her as she cried and recounted how he acted when she got home and how she was broken by him. His rationale at the time was that he was homesick. However, he turned our words around and said that myself and Vera told him that we were getting back together, just not right now, which I never said and have two witnesses to prove as both Vera and Shadow were sitting at the table when I said what I had to say. He also said that he never wanted her to reach out to me, and so on and so forth.

Ultimately repeating the pattern of dragging me through the mud as if I'm the monster when I spent time in therapy and stepped away and worked on my shortcomings, while only repeating the same behavior himself. We are 3 years into this "I'm sorry I'll do better" train and he has not worked on himself once. He takes fake hiatuses for sympathy and victimizing, then comes back hoping others have forgotten who he truly is. As evident in this screenshot of his now deleted most recent "hiatus" he was supposed to have taken that he never took.

SonicBuckley01

I don't know how long I'll be gone for, and I don't know when I'll be back...

For now I need to step away and truly work on the unresolved issues I have within myself, in order to truly and completely be the best ...

He posted this on Bluesky a few days after he figured out that people were starting to see who he was and cutting ties with him. During this “hiatus” I sent him a message explaining my frustrations about how he treated Vera, his friends, myself, Vera’s tiny human, and Vera’s dog. As even in my presence I witnessed him treat the two last mentioned poorly. Which I did not take kindly to and apparently was a constant cycle with him. So much so Vera had spoken with him multiple times.

Again speaking directly to him, you feel good about treating a child and dog that way? “Apologizing” just to turn around and keep doing it? They are innocent and you were in their space, not the other way around.

However, I know that you’ve probably seen it is gone now. Which is his MO, see he’s being held accountable so he will play victim and garner sympathy with his broken “I’m sorry I need to work on me” and ultimately will not. Especially when you’re texting someone mid stream asking them to talk, if you’re offline, how do you know they’re streaming? We have receipts, Sonic.

Currently he is following the same pattern of behavior he showed to Vera by being overly supportive of another female streamer, as he’s done with other female streamers in the past.. Reposting her streams and the hyping her up, the compliments, the same way he does every female he takes interest in with his predatory behavior.

That’s about all I can say about him. From my perspective he is nothing more than a narcissistic, creep, and sexual offender/rapist. Anyone who interacts with him should distance themselves, and no these aren’t just allegations. This is the truth I have lived since November of 2021 and continue to live. I am just sick of watching him get a free pass because he “apologizes” and then repeats the same behavior with zero accountability. It’s time he learned to answer for his behavior and his crimes and is long overdue.
