

In this interview we interviewed the owner of Rock Solid studios located in Dunlap Illinois. Founded by Jimmy Bridgeman in 2016. Rock solid studio does recordings for bands or people who just want to record music. They have a pretty cool set up which is an old church. The old church style roof makes the recording sound better with acoustics being able to get the higher scales of sound, it also gives them a lot more room to work with and can get bigger bands /groups of people in there at times other than working in a small room. Jimmy sees with being a business owner you can never give up, one of the questions I asked was have you ever wanted to give up?

Jimmy continued to say that being an owner of a business you can never give up and always have to push for what you want to be done, goes along with when I asked him if he ever had a backup plan or result to go to if his business did not work and he said "no he is not a advocate for that because when things get hard most people will go with plan B instead of pushing through and getting what they wanted. Jimmy said he got into the business that he is in today because music has always been a big part of his life and he just loved the idea of working with music for a living. I also asked Jimmy if there was anything he could change about being a business owner. What would it be?

He continued to say nothing because lessons he learns will help him make progress in the future.
