Describe how volunteer or community service has shaped who you are today and what community service has taught you. Also, discuss in your essay any challenges or obstacles you have dealt with and overcome in life and how this will help you succeed in college and beyond.

Community service has helped shape who I am today. When I first started volunteering, I didn't think I had much to offer. But over time, I learned that just being there and willing to help makes a real difference. Whether I was cleaning parks, giving food to homeless people, or helping younger students, each experience taught me patience, kindness, and responsibility. It also helped me understand others better and care more about my community. At the same time, I've faced personal challenges. Moving to a new country and learning English was very hard. In the beginning, I felt shy and frustrated because I couldn't speak well or express myself. School was difficult, and I made mistakes. But I kept trying and practicing, and over time, I improved. That taught me to be strong and never give up. These experiences—both in community service and in my personal life—have helped me grow. I now feel more confident, and I believe I'm ready for college. I know it won't be easy, but I've already learned how to face challenges and keep going. I want to continue giving back, working hard, and becoming someone who makes a difference.
