

Don't make your kids cry

Hey -<name>,

Did you ever go to a zoo and it was just so awful your kids started crying?

This is what happened to one of our competitor's customers a few weeks ago, and here's how to make sure it doesn't happen to you.

Eddie went to <competitor's zoo> and found it extremely disappointing for him and for his kids.

"Absolutely horrible experience!! The walkways were unwalkable, animals were brought inside and out of view, locks were put on all of the walk through areas, food stands closed, splash pad closed, ect."

His children didn't know what to do... they were promised a funny and engaging day with beautiful animals, and they received only a waste of money!

Now THIS was Eddie's review when they came to OUR Zoo.

"Had the best day there! Saw so many animals. My favs were the Koalas and tiger! We had lunch there as well. Best burgers ever! Friendly staff. So much to see! A definite for the kids."

His kids couldn't help but smile all the time looking at the animals, it was so much fun!!!

This is because <zoo-name> puts the customer's happiness first place, and our organization methods are such that no other zoo can compete!
