Continuation Route: Fashion Design
Project Title:
Project Aims and Objectives:  I want create a collection for Gen Z women, this will be a haute couture collection for the catwalk, it will be an evening wear collection. I will use the long over-sized sleeves and asymmetrical shorts to feed into the trends however as I will be using pop art my colour palette will be going against current minimalist neutral colours.  The theme that I chose for the project was pop art. My progression is fashion design. I wanted to make a collection based on dessert colour which is pastel colour, such as cake, marshmallow, and macaroon. The progression that I made was I tried to find the colour schemes that I can use it on the internet - Adobe Color, rough sketches to try and eliminate and determine what is the best for the project.  The 2D outcomes that I will make 6 or more design sketches digitally (pro create) and make slideshow using Canva. The 3D outcomes that I am going to make is a dress using material that is affordable. Then, the design I will focus on the shape and the colour because I want to make a dress with shape that has similarity with the desserts, like macaroon, cake, and others and using pastel colours for the colour scheme.  Materials and sustainability - start looking at this once you have started to design  The designers that inspire me are Harikrishnan, Sun Woo, and Scarlett Yang. The reason is because they created unique designs that will not be used for daily but for occasional event or party. Vivianne Westwood (corsetry)
