Subject- Happy birthday to my brother in heaven letter

Dear [mention the name of the brother]

It's your birthday today; you'd be 29 years old, and it's strange that you're not here to celebrate. God knew well before the creation of the world that you would be born on that special day in history. You scared your parents that day, but you've always been a fighter, and this was no exception. What a joyous big sister I had been! How grateful I am for the life you lived and the impact you had on so many people around you.

As I write this, I'm wondering how many moments had elapsed when you were here on Earth. Some days it feels as if infinity has passed since you left everybody, but other days it feels like only just the other day that I was buckled on the kitchen floor, crying that it couldn't be real. I still can't figure out if it was a nightmare!

We miss you very much, and it ends up feeling like you should return now that we've passed what appears to be a long and difficult test as to how long we can last without you. It's as if every day we shouldn't go on about you missing, but we do and so on.

Although it sometimes feels like it shouldn't, life goes on without you.

Work is completed, food is consumed, and the sun rises as well as sets. We're all striving to live life to the utmost, to make the most out of every day we're given, and not think of life as if it's something we'll have forever. We have kinds of stuff to do here, even if we don't understand it, and you don't.

But again, sometimes I feel like you should have lived a little longer with us! Miss you [mention the name of your brother]. Happy birthday.
