Name(s)	Period	Date

Activity Guide - When Does Your Privacy Matter?

С	0
D	E

Directions:

- 1. Place an "X" in each box in the table below where you would not be comfortable with that person knowing that information.
- 2. Discuss your decisions with a partner. Did you disagree about any pieces of information? Did any of their decisions change your mind?
- 3. Answer the Reflection Questions on the back.

	Parent / Guardian	Sibling	Grandparent, aunt/uncle, or other extended relative	Teacher	A best friend you are talking with in person	A best friend you are communicating with digitally (phone, text, internet chat)	A classmate you just met you are talking with in person	A classmate you just met you are communicating with digitally (phone, text, internet chat)	Someone you never met before who asks you about this in person	Someone you never met before who asks you about this digitally
Favorite movie
A picture of you								K	×	Y.
Your favorite teacher									*	X
Home address							Υ.	*	*	Υ.
Cell phone number									*	X
Your personal e-mail address									*	X
Your secret crush	*	Υ.	*	*			*	*	*	Υ.
Embarrassing moment of you on video	*	*	*	*			*	*	*	*
Your online search history	*	K	X	×	*	*	X	*	*	X

Reflection Questions

1. Did you and your partner disagree about any of your choices? What was the most interesting point the two of you disagreed on?

Yes, I am fine with my best friend seeing the embarrassing video because I know that she will not make fun of me, but my partner did not want to share it with anyone because she would still be embarrassed.

2. Within your group, choose one piece of information you'd share with one audience but not another. Why is that the case?

I would share a picture with people I know who have already seen me, but not with people who haven't seen me and don't know me. I just think it's weird that someone I don't know would want to see my picture.

- 3. Now, with your partner, identify in the space below three rules you both feel are most important for deciding what personal information is appropriate to post online.
- 1. If you don't want a stranger to see it, JUST DON'T POST IT.
- 2. You can share things privately, but only if you trust the other person not to tell anyone.
- 3. If your friend shares something with you, don't forward it or show other people unless you know she is okay with it.