

Title:

Running title: no more than 60 characters, including spaces.

Word Count: no more than 5,000 words for Narrative/Literature Reviews.

Abstract (200~250 words)

* Please note that the abstract should provide a complete and accurate description of the article's content.

Background and Objective:

Methods:

Key Content and Findings:

Conclusions:

Keywords: 3~5 words

1. Introduction

* Please note that the rationale should be clearly expressed, and the objective should be presented clearly and logically.

1.1

1.2

1.3

Main Body (Require discussing on strengths and limitations of this review; the word “main body” should not be used as a subheading and authors are free to decide on the subheadings for content of the main body)

For Review Article, Narrative Review/Literature Review, Clinical Practice Review, Mini-Review, Clinical Practice Guideline, and Expert Consensus, although a separate Discussion section is not required, authors are encouraged to include evidence-based, comprehensive, in-depth, and cutting-edge discussion throughout the main body content. In particular, we recommend including a separate section on strengths and limitations in the main body to promote a more intellectual interpretation.

Tables

cannot contain more than 6 tables

* Please double check that the tables are well-structured and have high resolution, causing no blurriness or reducing readability.

* Please kindly check that the tables are well-annotated and easy to read and understand.

* Please carefully verify the correctness of the data in the tables and their consistency with the data in the main text, abstract and original literature, especially the statistical dimensions (e.g., P-values and confidence intervals).

Table X.: The search strategy summary

Table Legends

* Please present the full names of abbreviations, special symbols, any missing data and other necessary explanations in the table legends

Figures

cannot contain more than 10 figures

* Please double check that the figures are well-structured and have high resolution, causing no blurriness or reducing readability.

* Please kindly check that figures are well annotated and easy to read and understand.

* Please carefully verify the correctness of the data in the figures and their consistency with the data in the main text, abstract and original literature, especially the statistical dimensions (e.g., P-values and confidence intervals).

Figure Legends

* Please present the full names of abbreviations, special symbols, any missing data and other necessary explanations in the figure legends, so that the figures and tables stand

4. Conclusions

* Please kindly check that the conclusions are data-supported.

Acknowledgments

Report any acknowledgements here/None.

Conflicts of Interest:

References

Limited to 70 references, the reference style is Vancouver. Use of DOI is obligatory.

* Please kindly check that the reference is appropriate in number and up to date.

* Please kindly check the manuscript for any statements lacking proper citations and for redundancies/unnecessary citations.