

Benefits of Partnership

Launching a relationship between your diocese, school, or other organization enables you to utilize the theological resources of Notre Dame's McGrath Institute's online courses and faculty to fit specific needs. Here are some of the ways in which a partnership can help achieve your educational mission:

- Discounts on Online Courses
 - Participants receive a discount on every course enrollment.
- Customized schedule with McGrath Institute's instructors
 - Existing course offered specifically for your group of participants according to your schedule.
- Customized schedule with local leaders
 - We train local leaders to lead participants through courses for greater local involvement and tailoring of course objectives.
- Tech Support
 - Provide bilingual materials to the diocese to explain the registration process and help participants register in advance of the course. Videos and infographics on registering and course format provided.
- Visits and available workshops in English and Spanish
 - Introduction to McGrath Institute and its resources
 - Orientation to courses and theological study
 - Theological writing workshops
- Student Assessment
 - This program is for students of initial formation programs, lay or diaconate, who partner with STEP to provide the theological component of the formation program.
 - Its aim is to provide formation directors with a strong assessment of the theological competency of their candidates for ministry.
- Records and reporting
 - Record of diocesan participation and course completions provided to the diocese.
