

Shortly after the previous entry, in which Wing Gaster received the most painful kicking to the nuts imaginable, he was struck by and crushed by a Semi-Truck falling down into the trash pit in Waterfall. Despite the fact that this is normally fatal, Wing Gaster survived and is expected to make a full recovery.

It should be noted that the kicker of nuts, later identified as Jerry, did so as he was spoiled on the ending of Portal 2 by listening through Wing Gaster's walls. Why he was there in the first place is unknown, as Jerry refused to cooperate further.

As to why Wing Gaster made his way to the Waterfall Garbage Dump instead of towards his lab in Hotland, it can be chalked up to delirium from getting kicked really hard in the nuts. Everything after that has been described as "plain ol' bad luck".