

WAGEINDICATOR FOUNDATION

PRESS KIT

Since 2000, we have been collecting and providing clear information about minimum wages, living wages, jobs and salaries, labour laws, collective agreements and working conditions.

200+
COUNTRIES &
TERRITORIES

100+
PROFESSIONALS

400
DATA COLLECTORS

The WageIndicator Foundation

The WageIndicator Foundation is a global and independent non-profit organisation. We currently operate in over 200 countries and territories (including overseas and non-recognised). Our mission is to improve labour market transparency worldwide and to equip workers, employers, researchers and policy makers with data for equitable decision making to improve working conditions globally.

Since 2000, we have been collecting and providing clear information about minimum wages, living wages, jobs and salaries, labour laws, collective agreements and working conditions. We take pride in sharing information that is accurate and complete, easy to understand and accessible to everyone. Whoever you are and wherever you live, we aim to give you information in your own language and relevant to your context.

Our work is made possible by a truly global, diverse and passionate team. With over 100 professionals, 400 data collectors and many interns, we are based across the world: from Europe to Africa and from Latin America to Asia.

 Media Enquiries For media enquiries, contact us using this form, and we will reply within 24 hours: wageindicator.org/about/contact

Speaker Profiles

FIONA DRAGSTRA

Headshot: LINK

Bio:

As the Director of WageIndicator Foundation, Fiona leads a global team of experts that collects, shares and compares information and data on wages, cost of living, labour laws, collective agreements and the gig economy and future of work. In her role, she develops and implements strategies to improve the accessibility, quality, and impact of our data, reaching over 216 countries and territories together with our partners and global team. She has a background in political communication and social movements, which enables her to facilitate our organisations' support in policy discussions, building consistent, up-to-date and structured databases and working closely with trade unions, workers groups, and cooperatives to advance labour rights.

PAULIEN OSSE

Headshot: LINK

Bio:

Paulien is the Co-Founder and Global Lead of the Living Wage team at the WageIndicator Foundation. She started the organisation in the Netherlands back in 2000. Before that, Paulien was a journalist and gained experience as a writer in economics journalism.

She learned the most remarkable lesson earlier in life, in one of her first jobs as an assistant zookeeper looking after lions and tigers: if you were able to come home safely, be grateful to be alive, and never take another day for granted. She has lived this lesson every day since.

Key Facts about our Data

We house some of the world's largest databases on the following topics.

216

Minimum Wage Database

countries

186

Living Wage Estimates

countries and 4,000+ regions

127

Labour Law Database

countries

145

Collective Agreements Database

countries

186

Labour Rights Index

countries

We operate all over the world, and collect data on a national and local scale with over 25+ years of experience.

Our data is updated monthly, quarterly or yearly to reflect the latest legal and economic developments.

Logos and Brand Assets

Access our logos and brand guidelines via our brand assets folder:

<https://drive.google.com/drive/WageIndicatorAssets>