

Welcome to Loveland

Penryn's new community field, Loveland, is growing into a beacon of delicious, nutritious, sustainable, food production for all life to enjoy. A place to reconnect with nature and each other through work, education and play.

The Loveland community field project offers an open and welcoming space to encourage local people to get more involved in the growing of our food through working, learning and gathering together with a collective spirit that welcomes all.

Throughout 2021 we gathered the ideas and feedback of the local community through events and volunteer sessions, delving into the possibilities of what this big field could become.

Everyone's ideas and energy are welcome at Loveland where we continue to ask questions and stay curious as we learn by doing, dream green and make good things happen.

Come and join in on a Saturday volunteer session from 10-1pm where sitting and enjoying the sunny view is just as encouraged as picking up a spade, hoe or seed to plant!

Let's get our hands dirty – grow an orchard, a forest garden, fresh salads, flowers, vegetables and herbs and leave room around us for wildlife to return.
